Los Angeles Curfew Ends In Riot Zone

Billy Graham Calls It Rehearsal For Revolution

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown ordered an end today to the curfew clamped Friday on Los Angeles' 46-square-mile Negro riot zone.

The action was requested by Police Chief William H. Parker as racial violence which caused 33 deaths and $175 million damage in six days simmered down to isolated reports of gunfire.

Brown said:

"To assist the South Los Angeles area returning to normal as quickly as possible and because it is clear now that the worst of the disturbances are over, effective immediately, I am lifting the curfew in Los Angeles.

"I ask all responsible citizens however, to voluntarily limit travel at night for emergency purposes only. I also urge parents to keep their children off the street at night and know where they are at all times. . ."

HOME STRETCH

Lt. Gen. Roderic Hill of the California National Guard, which brought in 15,000 troops at the height of the rioting, told newsmen, "It looks like we're on the home stretch."

There was no official word on when the guards would start pulling out.

Evangelist Billy Graham earlier called the rioting "a dress rehearsal for a revolution."

Graham, after a helicopter tour of the riot area, told newsmen, "The racial problem will be solved more peacefully in the South than it will in the North."

In midmorning police gave this picture of slowly dying violence:

From 6 p.m. to midnight last night they received 39 reports of shootings. From midnight to 3 a.m., 14 reports. After that, no reports of shootings, and only a few calls about looting.

TWO INJURED

Just before 3 a.m. two national guardsmen were hurt, one critically, when a car crashed through a roadblock. Police said the driver, not a Negro, was jailed.

Courts processed the first of more than 3,000 suspected rioters arrested.

Food markets opened and clerks, some wearing pistols, sold food as troops stood guard.

City and county offices were opened, buses rolled again, mail delivery was resumed, and

U.S. Relaxes Threat Over U.N. Money

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. diplomats were elated today over the new U.S. policy ending the threat of a U.S.-Soviet showdown over unpaid peacekeeping assessments.

The diplomats agreed that the U.S. retreat, announced by Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, opens the way for resumption of normal operations of the General Assembly after a year of paralysis.

The American abandonment of the fight to force the Russians to pay up drew approval and condemnation from members of the U.S. Congress. Officials of the Johnson administration anticipated a new campaign for a close look at future requests for U.S. money for the United Nations.

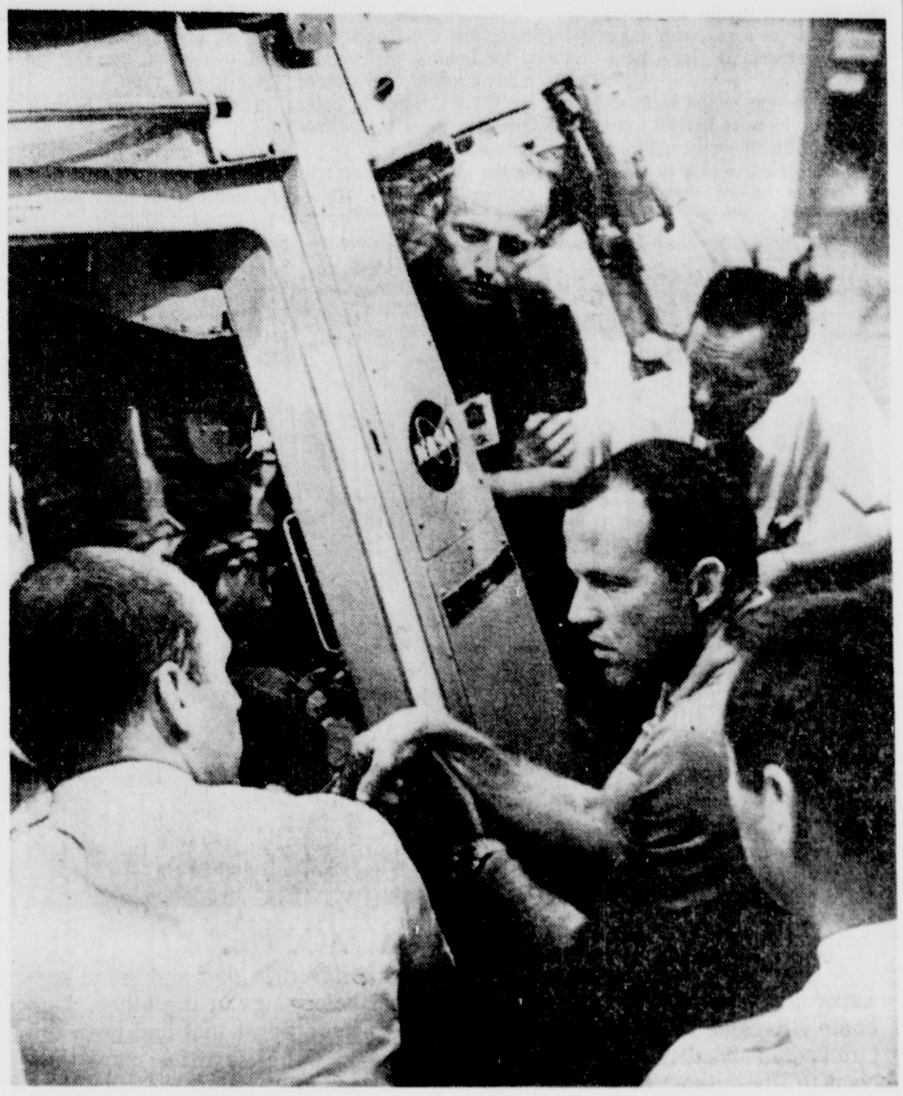

Reaction from Soviet delegates to the United Nations was cautious, but chief delegate Platon D. Morozov commented that "unless we are mistaken and deluded" there is now substantial agreement on normalization of the assembly's work.

He added, however, that the Soviet Union wanted firm guarantees and not just a statement that the United States had decided not to invoke Article 19 of the U.N. Charter. This article provides that a member country will lose its vote in the assembly if it falls two years behind in paying assessments. The Soviet Union, France and 11 other countries are in this category peacekeeping operations.

Britain's Lord Caradon said Goldberg had delivered "a remarkable speech." It was the first U.N. speech of the former Supreme Court justice since he succeeded the late Adlai E. Stevenson last month as chief U.S. delegate.

Goldberg said that, because of

Guardsmen To Remain Week Longer

San Rafael National Guardsmen, sent to Los Angeles Saturday to help quell the rioting, expected today to remain there until at least Monday.

Sgt. Theodore E. Green, administrative and supply technician at the National Guard Armory in Santa Venetia, said authorities in Los Angeles want to keep the Guardsmen in the area until after the coming weekend in case the violence erupts again.

Sgt. Green said the 60 men, who are part of a 400-man contingent from the Redwood Empire, have been on patrol duty but so far have not been involved in any major incidents.

He said the men will be told this afternoon exactly how much longer their presence will be required in Los Angeles. Officials are also to decide later today whether to bring down about 150 Guardsmen who remain in the Redwood Empire.

Sgt. Green said mail or effects for the local Guardsmen may be sent to them in care of the Addams Junior High School, 151 West Thirtieth Street, Los Angeles 90007.

Marines Beat Back Red Suicidal Attack

SAIGON (UPI)—A South Vietnamese general said today his forces have killed an estimated 200 Viet Cong in an operation near the North Viet Nam border. U.S. Marines south of Da Nang last night beat off a suicidal attack of guerrillas screaming "Yankee you die!"

Maj. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, the 1st Corps commander in charge of the search and destroy operation near the border, said in Da Nang air and ground forces had killed 200 Viet Cong and that the operation was still continuing.

The government-controlled news agency Viet Nam Press reported, meanwhile, the Viet Cong suffered 1,330 killed and 148 captured during the week ending Sunday. It said another 2,375 Viet Cong defected to the government. It put government losses at 214 killed and 64 missing.

The attacks against the Marines came three and a half miles southeast of Da Nang where the Viet Cong opened up with a barrage of mortar and automatic rifle fire last night the charged with cries of "Yankee go home!" and "Yankee you die!"

A U.S. military spokesman said the attack cost the Viet Cong six counted dead plus another 20 estimates dead out of an attacking force of about 40 men. There were no Marine casualties.

Confirmed casualties in the South Vietnamese border operation were listed by the spokesman as 32 known dead and six captured. Another 29 rebels defected to government forces sweeping through the Red hideout blasted Saturday by Guam-based B52 bombers of the Strategic Air Command.

The Communists opened the attack on the Third Marine Tank Battalion 3½ miles south of the big U.S. air base at Da Nang with a heavy mortar barrage accompanied by grenades and automatic rifle fire.

Then, screaming anti-American slogans, the Communists streamed out of a wooded area toward the tank battalions' positions.

The Marines, standing their ground, called for artillery fire which broke up the sharp 15-minute attack just before midnight.

The Marine artillery, directed by Lt. Col. S. R. Jones, of Honolulu, hit the tree line from which the attack originated and the Viet Cong withdrew.

Los Angeles Riots Deplored By Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower deplored today what he called the "senseless violence" in Los Angeles.

"I believe the United States is becoming atmosphered in a policy of lawlessness," Eisenhower told newsmen in a visit to the capitol.

"If we like the law we obey it. If we don't, we do not."

The former President was asked about the Negro riots in Los Angeles at a news conference following a meeting with House Republican leaders and ranking Republicans on various House committees. He came to Washington for a periodic health checkup at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital.

Whites Arrested In Racial Unrest

SAN DIEGO (AP)—The first white men were arrested last night in connection with racial unrest in San Diego's Negro communities as sporadic violence — beating and arson — resumed.

Police arrested three white men and seized their car which contained, police said, a dozen potential fire bombs, bows and arrows, a hunting knife and two 22-caliber rifles.

A Negro man and two Negro juveniles also were arrested.

Behr To Join Formation Group

County Supervisors today appointed their chairman, Peter H. Behr, to the Local Agency Formation Commission to replace County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel, who can no longer sit on the commission under new state legislation to take effect Sept. 17.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer was named as an alternate.

Supervisors also filled one of two vacancies on the County Park and Recreation commission, naming Mrs. Franklin J. McClain of Alto as the commission representative from the third supervisorial district.

The other seat on the commission, to be filled by a member at large, is to be named next week. Supervisors agreed to bring in several names of possible appointees.

Planners Back Synanon Permit

Proposal To Get Review

By FRANK FARRARA

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday recommended granting Synanon Foundation a use permit for its rehabilitation center for narcotics addicts at Marshall.

After a two-and-a-half hour public hearing, laden with petitions and letters, commissioners voted 6-0 to approve the permit for present and expanded facilities at the old Marconi Hotel site. The recommendation goes to supervisors next Tuesday.

The planning commission recommended that the permit be subject to review in two years and the population at Synanon House be limited to 200 during this period.

SHERIFF REPORTS

At the outset of the hearing, Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos reported that his office has had cooperation from Synanon.

"We have no complaints against Synanon and hope never to have any," hes aid. "There have been no arrests."

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, said she was not aware of any health code violations at Synanon, and felt that "any honest attempt" to rehabilitate addicts "deserves a try."

NO OBJECTIONS

County Sanitation Director William Desmond said he had no objections to the Synanon operation, but if there is expanded use there will have to be an adequate water supply and waste disposal system.

Then came the petitions and letters with Ron Silva, agent for Synanon presenting a petition with 191 signatures signed by residents of Marshall, Inverness and Point Reyes Station backing Synanon.

Kenneth L. Wade presented a petition signed by 308 "young people from Marin" backing Synanon, and the Marin County Young Democrats presented a resolution urging granting of the use permit.

The commission previously had received two petitions with

BUS PICKETS—Pickets set up by the Amalgamated Transit Union outside bus depot in San Rafael disrupted commuter service this morning. The union seeks to organize Greyhound ticket clerks. (Independent-Journal photo)

Picket Lines Disrupt Bus Commute Service

Greyhound bus commuter service was disrupted this morning when drivers refused to cross picket lines in San Rafael and at two East Bay depots.

A. A. Baker, business agent of Local 1225 of the Amalgamated Transit Union, said his union set up the pickets in a drive to unionize ticket clerks in the bus depots.

The pickets have been appearing for about a week, but until today bus service had continued as usual.

The ticket clerks are employed by independent agents who operate the ticket selling franchises in the depots, Baker said.

He said any operation with two or more employees is a target in the union's organizational drive. There are two employees in the Richmond agency, two or three in Concord, and three in San Rafael, he said.

Baker said it would be "poor strategy" to answer when he was asked whether any of the employees had yet been signed up.

He said he did not know whether many commuters had been delayed, but he said Greyhound was warned by the union beforehand and could have picked up riders at points removed from the picketing.

An Associated Press dispatch said about 2,500 commuters in in Concord were stranded today.

LBJ Proposes Latin Progress

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson proposed today that Latin American countries establish a continental program to build up their economies through multi-national projects.

In a speech marking the fourth anniversary of the Alliance for Progress, Johnson also urged that Congress eliminate the special U.S. import fee on sugar. "So the full price will go the Latin American producers."

Johnson spoke at a White House ceremony attended by Latin American ambassadors, the cabinet and representatives of business.

Sukarno Warns West On Asia

JAKARTA (UPI) — President Sukarno warned the United States and Britain today to get out of Southeast Asia "immediately" or face defeat by Red China, Indonesia and their allies.

In a speech marking the 20th anniversary of Indonesian independence, Sukarno said the "anti-imperialist axis of Jakarta - Phnom - Penh - Hanoi-Peking - Pyongyang" eventually will triumph over the West.

30 Die As Plane Falls In Lake Michigan

CHICAGO (AP) — A United Air Lines jet airliner with 30 aboard plunged into Lake Michigan last night and the first of the victims' bodies were reported sighted today.

The plane bound from New York to Chicago disappeared in a blinding flash and a roar of explosion northeast of Chicago. The lake water depth there ranges from 150 to 200 feet.

The Coast Guard Cutter Woodbine reported that four bodies had been recovered.

Earlier the cutter reported sighting debris and some luggage.

The plane, a Boeing 727 three-engine jet had a capacity of 92. It carried 24 passengers and a crew of six.

A spokesman said the Coast Guard reported that they spotted the debris and luggage about 15 miles in the lake off Waukegan, Ill., about 45 miles north of Chicago.

Thunderstorms broke out during the early morning along the north shore of Lake Michigan, hampering the search.

The plane had passed a weak weather front successfully and was in almost calm atmosphere with good visibility when the blast wiped it off the airport radar screen.

One of those aboard was Clarence L. (Clancy) Sayen, a Seattle, Wash., businessman, who as president of the Air Line Pilots Association for nearly 11 years had worked unstintingly for air safety legislation. Sayen, a former pilot, left ALPA in May 1962.

Friends and relatives waiting at the airport to greet those aboard received their first intimation of disaster when they were directed to the air line's red carpet room, a plush salon normally reserved for dignitaries.

Newsmen who sought to interview relatives were barred from the salon by security guards. Those who tried to talk to waiting persons before they were closed off were fended away by air line employees.

The plane, United's Flight 389, was commanded by Capt. Melville W. Towle, 42, of Wyckoff, N.J., father of four children. Minutes before the tragedy, he radioed for landing instructions and acknowledged an order from the O'Hare tower to enter a pattern. He gave no intimation of trouble.

Flying the plane with him was First Officer Roger M. Whitezell, 34, of North Plainfield, N.J., and Maurice L. Femmer, 26, of Elmont, N.Y., the second officer.

Three stewardesses in the plane were Phyllis M. Rickert, 22, of Chicago; Sandra H. Fuhrer, 20, of Mount Prospect, Ill., and Jeneal G. Beaver, 20, of Long Beach, Calif.

There had never been a 727 crash. There are 160 of the three-jet models in service of several airlines, the first inaugurated in December 1963.

Mrs. Carman said she shouted at several passers-by for aid as she sprinted after the thief Sunday "but no one helped me," and the purse snatcher got away with $4, a pair of eyeglasses and her diabetic medicine.

Senate Remap Proceeding Delayed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A three-judge federal court panel has delayed further proceedings on State Senate reapportionment until Oct. 1.

The panel grated the continuance yesterday at the request of attorney Phill Silver, who brought the suit that produced last December's order for reapportionment.

The State Supreme Court is expected to conduct hearings Aug. 30, Silver said.

The judges ruled last Dec. 3 that the Legislature reapportion the Senate by July 1 to carry out the U.S. Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote ruling.

Rain, Flash Floods Hit Sierra

TRUCKEE (AP)—The heaviest August rainfall in 64 years sent water cascading down Sierra slopes last night, closing some Nevada highways, washing out 300 feet of railroad track and filling Lake Tahoe to near capacity.

Reno water master Claude Dukes said Lake Tahoe was only two inches below its maximum capacity and outlet gates were discharging 70 feet of water per second into the Truckee River.

Vegetable Oil Fraud Draws 10-Year Term

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Anthony (Tino) DeAngelis was sentenced to 20 years in federal prison today on charges of conspiracy and fraud stemming from the collapse of his multimillion vegetable oil empire.

He drew two consecutive 10-year sentences, along with concurrent terms of five and 10 years on four separate counts to which he had pleaded guilty. The judge denied a motion to have all sentences run concurrently.

FEDERAL LAW

DeAngelis had been given a nominal maximum sentence of 10 years in May on the same charges. However, the judge invoked a seldom used federal law which provided that he be brought back to court in three months for reconsideration.

He could have been freed on probation or resentenced to the 10 years originally imposed.

U.S. District Judge Reynier J. Wortendyke Jr. said before DeAngelis' appearance today that the 10-year sentence might be reimposed, shortened, or DeAngelis could be freed on probation.

DeAngelis had been undergoing psychiatric tests at the federal prison in Lewisburg, Pa. Wortendyke received a report of the tests earlier this month.

DeAngelis pleaded guilty Jan. 8 to circulating fraudulent warehouse receipts and admitted conspiring to circulate $100 million in forged receipts.

REFINING OPERATION

He built the nation's largest vegetable oil refining operation in Bayonne in 1955. The company, Allied Crude Vegetable Oil Refining Corp., at one time supplied about 75 per cent of the soybean and cottonseed oil exported by the U.S.

But many of the firm's operations were based on money borrowed on warehouse receipts listing huge stocks on non-existent vegetable oil.

When the firm plunged into bankruptcy in November 1963, creditors found nearly empty storage tanks.

Utilities Pleas For Assessments Drops Denied

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The pleas of 28 utilities for reduced property tax assessments have been denied.

The State Board of Equalization announced Monday it has rejected all requests for reductions, thus setting total assessments for the state's 192 privately owned utilities at $4.53 billion —the same amount adopted by the board two weeks ago.

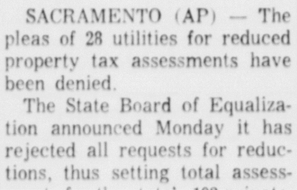

At the same time, the board set the value of utilities in 45 cities that collect their own taxes at $351 million, up $9.3 million or 3 per cent from last year.

Cities and counties use the state assessments in figuring local tax rates.

Family Of Four Slain In Mountain Cabin

CRESTLINE (UPI)—Sheriff's deputies today investigated the fatal shooting of an Orange County family of four and their dog enjoying their first outing in a newly completed mountain cabin.

The bodies of James A. Boles, 41, his wife, Darlene, 37, sons Bob, 13, and Tom, 12, were found Monday in the cabin in the San Moritz Chalet area of this resort about 15 miles east of San Bernardino.

The body of the family dog also was discovered in the cabin by Mrs. Boles' brother, Floyd Rice of Long Beach, who went to the structure when the family failed to return Sunday night as planned.

San Bernardino County Chief Dep. Coroner A. J. McCann said the slaughter occurred last Saturday. He said the bodies of the family were fully clothed and all had been shot numerous times, as was the dog, with a 22-caliber weapon.

Investigators said the killer or killers apparently had stolen money from the victims and fled in the family's 1962 red Dodge. Boles' identification papers also were missing from his wallet.

Woodside Asks LBJ: 'No Poles'

WOODSIDE (AP) — Little Woodside, whose hopes of legally barring the Atomic Energy Commission from stringing overhead power lines through their area were shattered by Congress pleaded today for President Johnson's help.

This town of 4,200 population is determined to go down fighting in its battle to put underground AEC power lines to the $114-million linear accelerator at Stanford University.

The stakes: a beautiful countryside.

Acting Mayor Robert F. Gill and his advisers feel Johnson will sign the bill passed Aug. 10 giving the AEC the right to condemn the land for an overhead, 220,000-volt transmission line. The bill would reverse a decision of the 9th Circuit Court of Appeals preventing such condemnation by the AEC.

"We would expect the President would undoubtedly sign this bill. We would also expect the President to do his utmost to save the beauty of the hills above Woodside in line with his beautification of America program," Gill said.

The Woodside special counsel, Paul N. McCloskey Jr. put it more strongly.

"If Johnson is serious about beauty in the country he will instruct the AEC to cooperate in putting the power lines underground. If he doesn't it would expose his beauty program as a vote-getting mechanism," McCloskey said.

An annual turkey trot is held at Cuero, Tex.

Bishop Pines Are Scorched By Civic Center Grass Fire

A grass fire burned five acres of Marin County Civic Center property yesterday, covering the area where the new Hall of Justice is to be constructed.

The fire, set by juveniles, according to the Marin County Fire Department, scorched 15 to 20 Bishop Pine trees planted on the site by landscapers.

The Marin County Fire Department received the call at 1:02 p.m. and responded with four trucks. The blaze was under control at 1:26 p.m. according to the county fire department.

Dynamite Blast Fatal To Three

AUBURN, Calif. (AP) — A bolt of lightning exploded a stockpile of dynamite at the Hell Hole Dam project near Auburn last night, killing three men and seriously injuring a fourth.

Sherriff's deputies said the four men were among construction workers near the dynamite storage area when the lightning struck. The explosion scattered debris for more than half a mile.

The site was on the American River constructors project across the Rubicon River, 40 miles northeast of Auburn, in northern California.

Only two of the dead were identified by deputies.

They were Leo Steele, 46, of Idaho Falls, Ida., and J. Reed Moss, 35, of Fair Oaks, Calif.

Mill Valley Sets Tax Rate 35 Cents Lower

Mill Valley city councilmen last night set that city's tax rate at $1.95 per $100 assessed valuation, 35 cents lower than the rate for fiscal 1965.

"I think this is quite an achievement," said Mayor Michael Wornum. "Our assessed valuation went up quite a bit this year, yet I notice the school district was only able to manage an 11 cent reduction.

"The council is always being attacked by irate citizens complaining of high taxes. It seems to me it would be three and a half times more effective to talk to the school district the next time around."

City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer explained that carryover funds from the fiscal year just completed allowed a drop in the tax rate previously planned at $2. The city's budget for fiscal 1966 is $2,280,534.

$1.3 Million Not Reported By Fairchild

County To Bill Firm $36,885 In Taxes, Penalties

Property tax statements filed in behalf of Fairchild Semi-Conductor Co. of San Rafael for 1963-65 understated values by $1,354,850, according to Edward O. Gwynn, chief of the audit appraisal division of the Marin County assessor's office.

As a result Fairchild will be billed for $36,885 in additional taxes and penalties, Gwynn said.

The statements were filed for the company by tax consultant Norman Phillips, an associate of James C. Tooke of Castro Valley, who is under investigation for alleged payoffs to assessors.

Gwynn said the understatements totaled $942,480 on inventory, $288,207, equipment and $134,163, construction in progress.

Therefore the property was underassessed by $313,290, which is 23 per cent of the $1,354,850.

Fairchild will be billed for the taxes on the additional $313,920 assessment and a 24 per cent penalty which will increase the assessed valuation to $392,400.

Gwynn has notified L. A. Lanset, Fairchild controller, of the increased assessment and said the matter will be presented to county supervisors shortly.

Supervisors then will set a time for an equalization hearing when Fairchild can protest the boost in assessed valuation.

When Assessor Bert W. Broemmel announced the understatement he said there was no evidence that anyone in his office was involved.

The company has released no statement on the tax matter.

British Probing Report On Gun

HUGH TOWN, Scilly Isles (AP)—Police took a man off the Scilly Isles yesterday and sent him to a hospital in Cornwall for a mental examination after a report that there might be an attempt to shoot British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart.

Police picked up the man, whose identity was not announced, after a hotel waiter reported a conversation he had with him during a rowing trip. The police said they found a revolver in the man's room and that he had a license for it.

Schools Handicapped Money Certified

The Marin County Board of Education last night unanimously approved certification of $15,000 for the education of physically handicapped children in Marin.

The action was taken at a special meeting in the board room at the Civic Center. Assistant County Supt. Robert Stannard said no other business was considered at the meeting.

Almost one hundred million turkeys were grown last year.

Supervisors Discuss Paying Of Planners

Should members of the Marin County Planning Commission be paid for their efforts?

This question was tossed around today by county supervisor Byron W. Leydecker said emphatically that they should be paid, and proposed that county administrator Alan Bruce do a study on what other counties do in this regard.

Chairman Peter H. Behr, however, said he believed the commissioners themselves, if asked, would prefer to go on donating their time free. He cautioned that paying them a nominal sum might open the door for criticisms that they were serving in order to dip into to the public trough."

When Behr suggested that the commissioners themselves be consulted, Leydecker retorted that "that is a good way to kill the whole idea."

Leydecker contended it was "utterly necessary" to start paying the planning commissioners. Somewhat warily, he added that such pay might also eliminate charges that men volunteered for the commission to serve personal ends.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen praised the idea, observing that he had "always been amazed people are willing to spend so much of their time to take all that guff without a cent of pay."

Congress Target Still Labor Day

The Montana Democrat told newsmen he informed Johnson that he was "still shooting for Labor Day" as the adjournment target.

"He will not have any last-minute piece of legislation unless it is of extraordinary, immediate pendency," Mansfield said when asked if Johnson would have additional requests. "He has never said he'd like us to stay until the first of November."

SYNANON

201 signatures from West Marin opposing the granting of a permit.

Former county planning commissioner Henry C. Hawkins said that more than 95 per cent of the residents of Marshall oppose the Synanon operation.

Synanon has been operating illegally without a use permit and is not financially responsible, Hawkins said. Its presence in a rural area causes apprehension, he said.

Planning Director B. D. Dobbs said the county "could well afford to go cautiously at the beginning" and he recommended a trial period for Synanon's present operation.

He suggested that a permit for expansion could be granted after the trial period.

Dobbs read a batch of letters from officials of other cities where Synanon has operated.

Santa Monica planners described their experience with Synanon as "consistently unsatisfactory" while Norbert Ehrenfreund, deputy district attorney, San Diego, said that Synanon has been good for San Diego.

There were letters from college professors backing Synanon and a letter from the Narcotics Enforcement Bureau of the State Department of Justice saying that there is no evidence that Synanon has violated or has encouraged violation of the state narcotics laws.

Letters of protest from West Marin residents said that Synanon and its residents disrupt living in the area, and lower the prestige of the area.

H. Morgan Noble said that Synanon is operating in defiance of the zoning law, and its "patients roam at will."

All plans for West Marin indicate that it will be developed as a recreation area, and potential developers are "pulling away" because Synanon puts a cloud on the area, hes aid.

Commissioner Hugh Dougherty said "the situation is neither all black nor all white," and felt that a time limit should be considered.

Jack Hurst, Northern California director of Synanon, reported that the present population of Synanon is about 90, and asked that the commission allow expansion to 300 with a review of the permit in three years.

A commission vote on the three-year, 300 proposal ended in a 3-3 tie with Commissioners Eugene R. Trombley, Niels Schultz Jr. and Dougherty voting against it. Commissioner William F. Upton was absent.

In voting for the two-year, 200 population proposal, Commissioners Harry Heifetz and Margaret Azevedo commented that they were for the permit, but reluctant about the two-year condition.

Los Angeles Curfew Ends In Riot Zone

clean-up crews tackled wreckage left by six days of turmoil.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown declared the riots ended.

But 15,000 National Guardsmen still held the 46-square-mile heart of the Los Angeles Negro district sealed within a perimeter of guns.

Said Gov. Brown: "The National Guard will remain here until the streets are safe."

Attacks by snipers and firebomb terrorists on white sections of Los Angeles dwindled, although there were sporadic reports of firing.

Brown said yesterday: "Guerrilla fighting against gangsters continues." The governor announced last night he would appoint a seven-member commission to investigate "underlying and immediate causes and means to prevent recurrence of the riots."

An 8 p.m.-to-dawn curfew remained in effect in the area during the night. Guardsmen and police kept people from the streets and halted cars at scores of roadblocks.

Police Chief William H. Parker hinted that the Black Muslims tried to take over what started as spontaneous rioting. Police noted 45 men believed to be Muslims were bailed out of jail by a bondsman who previously represented arrested Muslims.

Said Parker: "I will say that other elements moved into it (the riots)."

Bail for the persons arrested on felony charges ran high — up to $3,000 higher than in normal times. Dist. Atty. Evelle J. Younger said: "Participation in riotous conduct must be dealt with accordingly."

The first 100 of the thousands arrested were arraigned yesterday. Comparatively few were freed on bail. Posting $5,000 bail through a bondsman requires giving him $500 which is not refunded.

Three of the first 100 prisoners to be arraigned were charged with murder. Most of the others face charges of assault, burglary and arson.

Insurance underwriters said the American Insurance Association will have to rule whether payments will be made on claims for damage incurred during the violence.

Fire and looting damage is expected to exceed $200 million.

One insurance executive said most policies include a clause excluding from coverage damage resulting from insurrection, which is what state authorities termed the Watts lawlessness. Other officials said, however, that if underwriters invoke the clause claims might be paid if they were incurred before the insurrection was declared Friday.

A state law exempts the city and county from liability for damages, authorities said.

In Washington, government officials and congressional leaders agreed with President Johnson's statement that it was necessary "to strike at the unjust conditions from which disorder largely flows."

They said the best way to deal with such situations was to push long-range programs aimed at raising education and employment levels.

A Los Angeles Negro, who asked his name not be used, told Associated Press reporters in Watts:

"Sure, I threw my share of rocks. Maybe the people of Beverly Hills would riot, too, if they spent most of their lives with a cop's club in their faces.

"Or if they had to get out of an automobile with their hands over their heads to be questioned for doing nothing at all."

At roadblocks around the sealed-off riot area the halt-and-search process was repeated countless times. The Negroes expressed little resentment toward California National Guardsmen holding guns on them.

They repeatedly voiced animosity toward Los Angeles police, however. It made officers ponder what outbreaks might follow removal of guardsmen — with an unknown number of looted weapons still in possession of now-pacified rioters.

Said Vice Squad Sgt. Lou Bonanno: "There's no question that these weapons are to be used against us — or innocent persons."

White civilians rushed to arm themselves. The state attorney general's office reported the purchase of pistols jumped 250 per cent in Southern California over the weekend.

Parker again was under fire from members of the Negro community for what has been termed police brutality in Watts — a charge he consistently denies. Negroes frequently have described the riots as vengeance for past mistreatments.

The chief told a newsman: "This is the first time in history it took the sacking of a city to insist the police chief be fired."

There were no demands for Parker's resignation in City Hall circles.

Gov. Brown found himself embroiled in a dispute over whether a visit to Los Angeles by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. would help or harm the situation. Brown said he hoped King would stay away, terming the time inopportune for "civil rights demonstrations."

Dr. King went ahead with plans to fly here from Miami, Fla., today. He told Miami newsmen he hoped to create "a community of love" in Los Angeles.

AUDITED PAID CIRCULATION ABC

One in a series of messages to advertisers

300 homes are one inch thick

In addition to length and width, a newspaper advertisement has a third dimension — thickness. Thickness is circulation, the number of advertisements printed and actually delivered.

You pay for an advertisement on the basis of length and width, but what you really buy is the opportunity to talk about your merchandise and service to a specified number of readers. Laid one upon another, a one inch stack of your advertisements in this newspaper equals 300 homes reached.

Thickness... or circulation... is the dimension that gives promise to your sales message, that it will reach potential customers. It is important for you to know whether this thickness is a promise or a fact.

The ABC insigne assures you that our circulation is measured by the highest standards in the advertising and publishing industry. It is the symbol of our membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

ABC is an independent auditing association whose sole purpose is to give accurate and factual circulation reports. ABC audits are trusted by national advertisers and advertising agencies. ABC can be trusted by you.

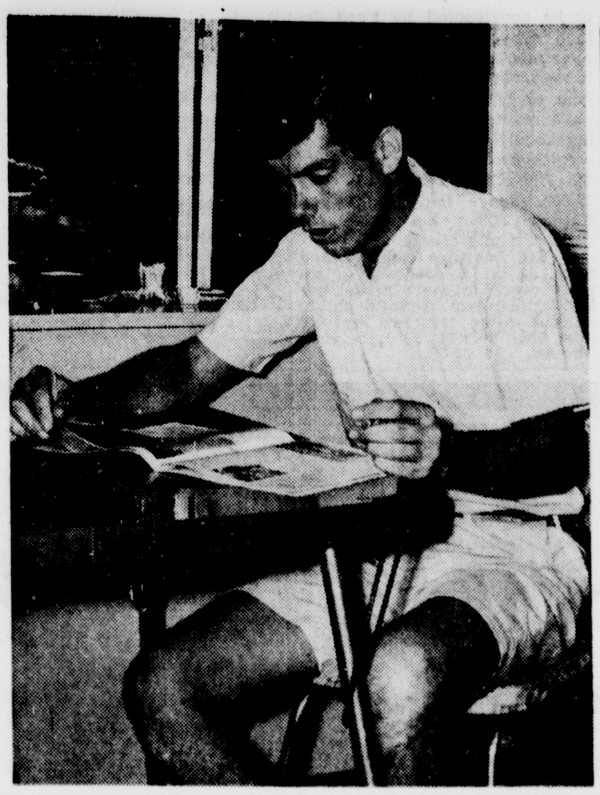

Our tell-all ABC report shows how much circulation we actually deliver, where these copies are distributed, how much readers pay, and other information you should know about the thickness of your advertising here — facts, without opinion, compiled from a physical audit of circulation records by trained ABC auditors.

When buying advertising, be sure to measure all three dimensions — length, width, and thickness.

Insist on the facts. Be ABC-sure!

AT A SAFE DISTANCE—Marine Pfc. Stephen R. Meyer, 21, of 320 Willow Avenue reads about the war in Viet Nam only a week after he was a part of it. Home on leave last week after being stationed in Phu Bai, Vietnam, for three months, Meyer was part of a combat batallion stationed in the northern-most U. S. position in South Viet Nam.

Returned Marine Says Weather Was Enemy

By ALAN ADELSON

A Corte Madera Marine, home on leave after three months of duty with a combat unit Viet Nam, found the change in climate and living conditions there harder to take than the constant threat of raids at night by the Viet Cong.

"The heat and humidity got a lot more men at first than the snipers and raiders did. We lost more men to malaria and heat stroke than we did to actual combat casualties," said Marine Pfc. Stephen R. Meyer, 21, of 32 Willow Avenue, Corte Madera. The temperature in the area climbs as high as 127 degrees, according to Meyer.

Meyer was stationed for three months at Phu Bai, the northernmost position held by the United States in South Viet Nam. Meyer's batallion of 1,400 men landed in an April beach assault in Viet Nam with tank and artillery units. Their assignment, originally, was to protect the small airfield located at Phu Bai which is used by South Vietnamese officials.

"We were restricted to defensive work only," said Meyer. "Even if we knew the Viet Cong were out there, we couldn't go get them. Then all of sudden our commander started screaming he wanted bodies. I guess they finally got mad at the V.C. picking off our men while they were out on reconaissance patrols," he said.

The Marine units now continually canvas the area in search of the elusive Viet Cong, according to Meyer. "If we see the V.C. we radio for jets from Da Nang and they fly to the spot and drop nepalm."

The average Vietnamese is only five feet tall and weighs between 75 to 80 pounds. "That's why the V.C. won't fight with us hand to hand but just keep raiding at night," said Meyer, who admits that he has never been certain of seeing a Viet Cong soldier while in combat.

"They are very religious and an entire unit will risk themselves to recover the body of a single man," said Meyer. "It's difficult to total their casualties. You can swear to God that you got one of them and then go out there and there's no body. It's discouraging."

The South Vietnamese army is very poorly managed and is crippled with deserters, according to Meyer. "They don't seem to care. Several times we've had a group of V.C. cornered and we're moving in on one side and they're supposed to be coming up on the other side, but when we get there, the V.C. are gone and the Army of the Republic of Viet Nam just hasn't made it."

"If the South Vietnamese discover a V.C., they drag him into his village and torture and kill him in front of the rest of the townspeople and then they kill his family," said Meyer. "We couldn't stop that if we wanted to because they have jurisdiction there."

Mail gets to the American troops about three times a week, and the morale is high, according to Meyer. "The only thing the men worry about is whether or not they'll be able to go home when their stint is up," he said.

Meyer quit Galileo High School in the middle of his senior year in 1961, but received his diploma while in the Marines. He plans to attend college when he is discharged in November. How will he feel about going to school with a group of youths who are protesting a war in which he has already fought?

"I'll just ignore those idiots. They're either draft dodgers or Communists."

Chester Bowles Has Surgery

NEW YORK (AP) — Chester Bowles, U.S. ambassador to India, underwent a highly successful operation for Parkinson's disease June 15, it was learned Monday.

Bowles is now back at his post in New Delhi.

The 1½-hour operation utilized the new technique of inserting a needle into the thalmus, a nerve center in the head, and freezing a small area with liquid nitrogen.

Parkinson's disease is a progressive nerve malady causing increasing rigidity, tremors and gradual loss of body control.

Bishop Pike Heresy Trial To Be Sought

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dismissal of Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike on grounds of heresy will be sought by 14 Arizona clergymen, according to an article in the Episcopal magazine, The Living Church.

The charges against Pike were made by the Rev. Paul B. Urbano, rector of All Saints Church in Phoenix, and forwarded by Bishop Joseph M. Harte of Arizona.

Bishop Pike "may unquestionably be a man of high moral character; but a Christian he is not," the accusation stated.

TO SEEK TRIAL

It said conservative ministers are distressed over Bishop Pike's announced intention of ordaining Deaconess Phyllis Edwards of San Francisco to perpetual deacon.

The articie also said Bishop Pike has "denied the Doctrine of the Blessed Trinity" and charged that the Feast of the Annunciation is not celebrated in San Francisco's Grace Cathedral.

Urbano was quoted as saying that the 14 Arizona clergymen will seek to have the California bishop tried for heresy and dismissed, at the House of Bishops meeting at East Glacier Park Sept. 7 unless he makes a public repudiation.

DENIES CHARGES

Pike denied the charges, and called them all "either utterly false or grossly misleading."

He said he first learned of them from an advance copy of the magazine. He said many of his doctrinal beliefs were covered in his book, "A Time for Christian Candor," which was discussed by the church's 200 bishops at their meeting last year.

No one accused him of heresy at that time, he noted.

He said the Feast of the Annunciation is celebrated as a matter of course in Grace Cathedral—"We have four services that day."

To find Pike guilty and dismiss him, a majority of bishops would have to rule that the bishop is guilty of the charges against him, and has been "false to the vows he took at ordination."

Fire Damages Algerian Hall

ALGIERS (AP) — Fire early today damaged part of the conference hall the Algerian government built for the African-Asian conference.

The hall, near the outskirts of Algiers, was damaged by a bomb explosion in late June just before the summit meeting was originally scheduled to begin. The conference was postponed until November.

Police Quell Teener Action

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police quelled a group of about 400 teen-agers last night when they left a dance and began leaping on auto hoods and tops.

The youths, mostly Negroes, pushed an unoccupied police squad car downhill into three parked cars, officers said.

Seven squad cars and motorcycle officers converged on the scene, at Booker T. Washington Center, and quickly halted the potentially explosive horseplay.

No arrests were made. Police said they saw no weapons and the youths made no threats.

Former I-J Reporter Hurt During Los Angeles Riots

Former Independent - Journal reporter Phil Fradkin, now with the Los Angeles Times, was one of the first newsmen into the Watts area of Los Angeles when riots began there Wednesday—and was one of the first injured.

Fradkin was treated for bruises at one of the city's emergency hospitals after a flying rock hit him in the collarbone. After treatment, however, he returned to the riot area and has covered the story every day since.

Asst. City Editor Jack Goulding of the Times said Fradkin and two reporters from United Press International went into the area about an hour after a California Highway Patrolman arrested a Negro for drunken driving. The arrest triggered the riots.

Fradkin worked for the I-J from June, 1962, until last September. In 1963, he authored a series called "The Negro in Marin."

Belvedere Council Sets Tax Rate At $1.99

A $316,090 budget for the 1966 fiscal year with a $1.99 per $100 assessed value tax rate was approved last night by the Belvedere City Council.

The rate is 33 cents lower than that for the fiscal year just ended. The budget does not include a $25,000 reserve suggested by City Mgr. William L. Cavalli for future capital improvement projects, such as city hall construction.

Councilman John R. Moore said, during the brief council meeting, that residents should have a chance to vote on major capital improvement projects, such as replacing the present rented city hall quarters with a city-owned building.

Councilmen approved a health, accident, life insurance plan for city employees, which also is expected to be approved by Tiburon city officials so that the combined number of employees may gain advantageous rates.

The plan approved last night for Belvedere will cost $300 yearly for one employee and one dependent, with the city paying half.

The council approved a raise on the taxi fares of Charles Teddy Cohen from a 50-cent minimum and 40 cents a mile to a 50-cent minimum and 50 cents a mile.

They approved paying the Tiburon Sanitary District about $200 monthly for checking of Belvedere sewage system, up from the approximate $180 a month previously paid.

Councilmen agreed to put into effect a long-unused portion of the building code which sets a plan checking fee equal to half the cost of the building permit issued by the city.

Councilman Thomas S. Price was absent.

Business Gains Some Ground In Mill Valley License Fees

Mil Valley businessmen won a partial victory last night in battle against increased business licenses, yet left the city council meeting dissatisfied.

Following an hour-long protest spearheaded by the chamber of commerce, the council, in a split vote, agreed to:

1. Lower the license fee from $36 to $24 for business grossing under $15,000 a year.

2. Raise the fee by $2 to $38 a year for merchants doing from $15,000 to $25,000 gross business a year.

3. Increase the fees for businesses grossing over $25,000 from $6 to $42 per year. The original plan was to increase all business fees by $12.

The council also agreed to set a flat license fee of $6 for each apartment unit operated in the city, remove the 150 per cent increased license fee for any outside business operating in Mill Valley and make the licenses purchasable only on an annual or semi-annual basis.

In voting on the scale for business licenses, councilman George E. Wickham voted no; Wornum, councilmen Joseph E. Sheeks and Dr. Albert E. White voted yes.

Leader of the business community's opposition to the license fee hikes, attorney Robert H. Andresen, warned the changes could result in businessmen pulling out of Mill Valley and charged:

"If City Mgr. Balmer had studied the history of this community and tried to find a controversial issue which would antagonize the businessmen of that community he could not have done a better job."

Andresen generally concentrated his attack on Balmer and was chastised for this by councilmen Sheeks and White.

Singling out Andresen, Dr. White said: "This meeting is not the place for hostility and ill-chosen, veiled, derogatory comments toward the city manager."

Sheeks labeled Andresen's attack on Balmer "out of order."

Balmer said he acknowledged the system of setting business license fees is "regressive" and he would like to study the problem and report back with recommended changes sometime next spring.

Andresen said the license increases would not add up to more than an additional $2,000 revenue for the city this year and suggested:

"The city is strangling the business goose, losing the golden egg of revenue while going for the $6 gizzard."

He said a $6 increase was not worth risking the loss of the city's good relationship with the business community. To this Wornum replied: "If that friendship can be destroyed for 50 cents a month, then it can not be too good a relationship."

Next Step On Tunnel Up In Air

The next step in the four-year fight to reopen the Puerto Suello railroad tunnel is still up in the air, attorney Boris H. Lakusta said today.

Yesterday's setback from the Interstate Commerce Commission affects only one of the two fronts on which San Rafael and other Marin County interests are battling for the tunnel reopening, Lakusta explained.

Still pending is the case before the United States Supreme Court, in which the Southern Pacific railroad, and its subsidiary Northwestern Pacific, is appealing earlier orders to reopen the tunnel.

The court case is not influenced by the ICC order granting a new hearing to SP on its petition for abandonment of the tunnel and part or all of the lines south of it to Sausalito and Tiburon, Lakusta explained. The railroad is supposed to file its briefs in the Supreme Court this fall, and the tunnel opening faction will then file answering briefs, in hopes of a decision by the end of the year.

As to the ICC reversal of its earlier refusal to hear the abandonment, Lakusta indicated he may try to repeat manuevers to block the hearing, but is not yet sure of his plans.

"It's still our belief," he said, that the abandonment move "is simply a legal pretext" to delay reopening of the tunnel.

Seaplane Service Reports Threat

An alleged threat by George Kappas, owner of Kappas Yacht Harbor at Waldo Point, to shoot at nearby Command Seaplane Service's craft taxiing across yacht harbor waters was reported last night to sheriff's officers.

William Hardsaw, co-owner with Douglas McCoy of the flying service, told deputies Kappas made the telephone warning yesterday after a student-piloted seaplane crossed the water.

McCoy said today they have been using the water for taxiing for many months, as have many boats and other craft. His firm is at 242 Redwood Highway.

Commission Will Study Tiburon Apartments Plan

Belvedere Land Co.'s plans for construction of two one-story buildings, a two-story building and 12 apartments near the Belvedere-Tiburon Post Office was referred to a Tiburon Planning Commission study committee last night and to the City of Belvedere for comment.

Howard and David Allen, speaking for the company, explained to the Tiburon Planning Commission last night that the larger one-story building, of 6,000 square feet, is tentatively planned to become a new post office, offering more space than the present building.

The city of Tiburon is negotiating with the land company to lease the present post office building and make it the city hall.

Planning commissioners agreed to ask neighboring Belvedere if it approved of the plans, for the buildings, which are next to the Belvedere city limits and include a tiny portion of land in Belvedere.

The Tiburon Planning Commission also:

1. Denied by a 4-1 vote, commissioner Joseph Marshal voting in favor, a plan by developer Fred G. Zelinsky to take over the mechanis parking lot, and add parking spaces to it on land he controls. No conslusion was reached on whether parking spaces required for other buildings Zelinsky is constructing would be met under this plan or whether the lot would be a pay lot or free for the public merchants portion and for parking for Zelinsky's own establishments.

2. Continued the subdivision application from Kingman Payn Co. requesting larger size lots than the 13 the company had proposed on five acres near Hawthorne Terrace.

3. Approved a 89-foot long pier to be constructed by Fred Jukich east of the Stone Tower apartments, with conditions that it may not be used to tie up a boat or houseboat which would have residents permanently living aboard.

4. Approved enlargement of the Belvedere Tennis Club by 17,000 square feet fronting on Palmer Drive but ruled out lighted tennis courts.

5. Set hearings Sept. 7 and Sept. 20 on a proposal to require work to start under use and adjustment permits within a year after issuance by the city. Such permits now are good forever.

Probation Given In Marijuana Case

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court yesterday placed Russell James Zerbe, 25, on three years probation on his guilty plea to possession of marijuana.

Zerbe, of 2323 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, was arrested by San Rafael police June 20 after leaving a bag of marijuana in a taxi.

Allied Nuclear Force Plan Hit

GENEVA (UPI) — The Soviet Union demanded today the West scrap plans for an Allied nuclear force as the price of Russian participation in a treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons.

A draft treaty on non-proliferation of nuclear weapons was introduced at the 17-nation disarmament conference by chief American negotiator William C. Foster.

Foster called on the conference to avoid the "deadly peril of nuclear anarchy" by curbing the spread of nuclear weapons. The advance Russian reaction was that the American plan was a "joke" and a "still-born baby."

Soviet negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin told newsmen after the session "it is impossible to discuss non-proliferation and at the same time continue to try to create multilateral nuclear forces."

Rangers Fight Fire In Sequoia Park

SEQUOIA NATIONAL PARK (UPI) — Park rangers today were fighting a fire 60 feet up a 120-foot giant Sequoia tree touched off by lightning last night in Grants Grove.

The crew laid hose to a nearby stream and was using an extension ladder to reach the smoldering fire. The crew spent the night at the foot of the tree, preventing sparks from igniting other trees.

Purse Stolen In Sausalito

Mary M. Wallace of Arcadia reported to Sausalito police that while she was putting money in a parking meter yesterday evening in the 600 block of Bridgeway, a fast moving theif swiped her purse from the front seat of her car.

She told police she had left the right front door open; she did not see the thief. The purse contained about $15.

Adriana J. Mager of 128 Buchanan Drive, Sausalito, told police that between 1 and 2 a.m. yesterday someone stole a tuxedo, a pair of trousers and dress shirt valued at $108 from her unlocked car parked in the 700 block of Bridgeway.

Native Sons, Festival Plans Are Approved

San Rafael Chamber of Commerce last night won the city council's permission to close off a block of Fourth Street the evening of Sept. 10, for the joint state convention of the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West and the chamber's second annual Autumn Festival.

The block in front of the court house will be closed to vehicles from 9 p.m. until midnight for a musical event, according to chamber president Robert P. Ritter.

The council granted permission to Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa's approval, after noting that a similar closing worked well last year.

The chamber also asked permission to decorate the front of the City Hall with flag display and a banner welcoming the Native Sons and Daughters.

The conventions will be on Sept. 9; this year's Autumn Festival and sales event will run from Sept. 7 through Sept. 11.

The council also approved the San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce request for a permit to sponsor the James Brothers Circus Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 subject to posting of a $500 cleanup bond and other requirements. The circus will be in the Northgate Industrial Park.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

1. Renamed four blocks of West End Avenue, changing the short section at its eastern end into First Street, and the stretch between First Street and Marguard Street to Second Street, due to West End's merger with Second Street under the city's new traffic pattern.

2. Delayed action to Sept. 7 on Family billiard parlor amendments to city ordinance, to permit councilmen to study copies of amendments.

3. Approved awarding a $24,245 contract for construction of the Castlewood Drive culvert for access to the Castlewood School site, to O. C. Jones and Sons of Berkeley, subject to approval tonight by the San Rafael Board of Education, which is to share the cost.

4. Voted 4 to 1, with Councilman Charles W. Alby opposing, to rezone American Legion property at Fourth and Union Streets, from multiple residential to general commercial. Alby objected that heavy traffic to the proposed Arden-Mayfair market there would be a serious problem.

5. Opened five bids for resurfacing of various streets. Apparent low bidder was Brown-Ely Co. of San Rafael at $59,704; bids ran up to $70,555 on the job city engineers had estimated at $62,360.

6. Continued to Sept. 7, a public hearing on the developer's appeal against the planning commission's decision that a portion of Manuel T. Freitas Parkway would have to be improved as part of Terra Linda Unit 24.

7. Rezoned 90 acres of Northgate Industrial Park Unit Two from unclassified to heavy commercial and manufacturing with off-street parking.

8. Reopened 63.4-acre Francisco Boulevard Assessment District from heavy commercial and manufacturing, and unclassified, to planned commercial and light industrial, with parking requirements.

9. Upheld the planning commission's denial of W. John Mounts' map for subdivision of his property between Ridgewood Drive and Oak View Drive, Los Ranchitos, after he agreed to submit a new map showing access to three lots from Oak View and to the fourth through an easement from Ridgewood.

10. Postponed to Sept. 7, pending return of vacationing Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles, approval of work in East San Rafael Assessment District No. 2.

11. Set for public hearings on Sept. 7, proposed cluster housing amendment to the zoning ordinance and the neighbors' appeals against planning commission's permission to Johnie Bunch to relocate his "Kiddyland" child care center in the old Coleman School.

12. Set for public hearing on Oct. 4, proposed slope policy amendment to the subdivision ordinance.

13. Took no action on the request by citizen John Barr, 10 Ridgewood Drive, that the council go on record against proposed Golden Gate toll increase to finance a proposed Marin County transit system.

14. Postponed to Sept. 7, pending report from City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen, action on a request for change of carrier on city employee life insurance policies.

NOT ON AGENDA
Issue Of Radio Tower Before Council Again

The issue of radio towers near the Cross atop San Rafael Hill sprouted again last night, although it wasn't on the San Rafael City Council's agenda.

After much discussion, the council again instructed City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen and City Atty. David Menary Jr. to report at a hearing Sept. 7 on council proposals to earmark part of the city's land on the hill for radio transmitter use.

Hugh Turner, president of Radio KTIM, spoke up last night when Mayor C. Paul Bettini invited the audience to present problems not on the agenda. Turner said he has been seeking a tower permit since April, and asked for "some forward step."

He recited that the council had disapproved the permit first granted by the planning commission, for a 105-foot tower between the Cross and downtown San Rafael, and that he had then obtained an option for a second site less visible from below. In July, the council unanimously revoked the planner's permit for the second site and directed the planning commission to block any attempt to subdivide the property of Francis P. Jenkins.

When councilmen last night again declared they wanted to control the number of towers on the hill, and would prefer Councilman Harry A. Barbier's idea of "16 transmitters on one pole." Turner argued that, "it's really not proper for the city to engage in this, in our free enterprise system."

Menary warned that deed restrictions providing for exclusive recreation and park use of the city-controlled part of the hilltop might block the plans urged by Barbier, Councilmen Charles W. Aby, Fred Jensen and Mayor Bettini.

"Couldn't we quit title?" asked Councilman L. H. Baar. Not likely without condemnation, Menary said.

Jensen scolded Turner for filing for a permit on the second parcel the day after the council vetoed the tower near the Cross, without waiting for the council's report on use of city land.

Turner said he would be back Sept. 7.

Youth Thrown From Horse Unchanged

No change was reported today in the condition of Thomas A. Teixeira, 18, who was admitted to Marin General Hospital with head injuries and multiple bruises Saturday after being thrown by a horse on the family ranch on Highway 1 north of Bolinas.

Hospital officials said Teixeira remained in poor and unconscious condition in the intensive care unit.

Fire Destroys Lumber Yard

SANTA ROSA (AP)—Fire destroyed the Diamond National Lumber Yard in nearby Roseland early today, flaring only a short time after firemen had answered a false alarm there.

A damage figure was unavailable, but firemen said the loss would be several thousand dollars. Stacked lumber and trucks parked in the warehouse were destroyed.

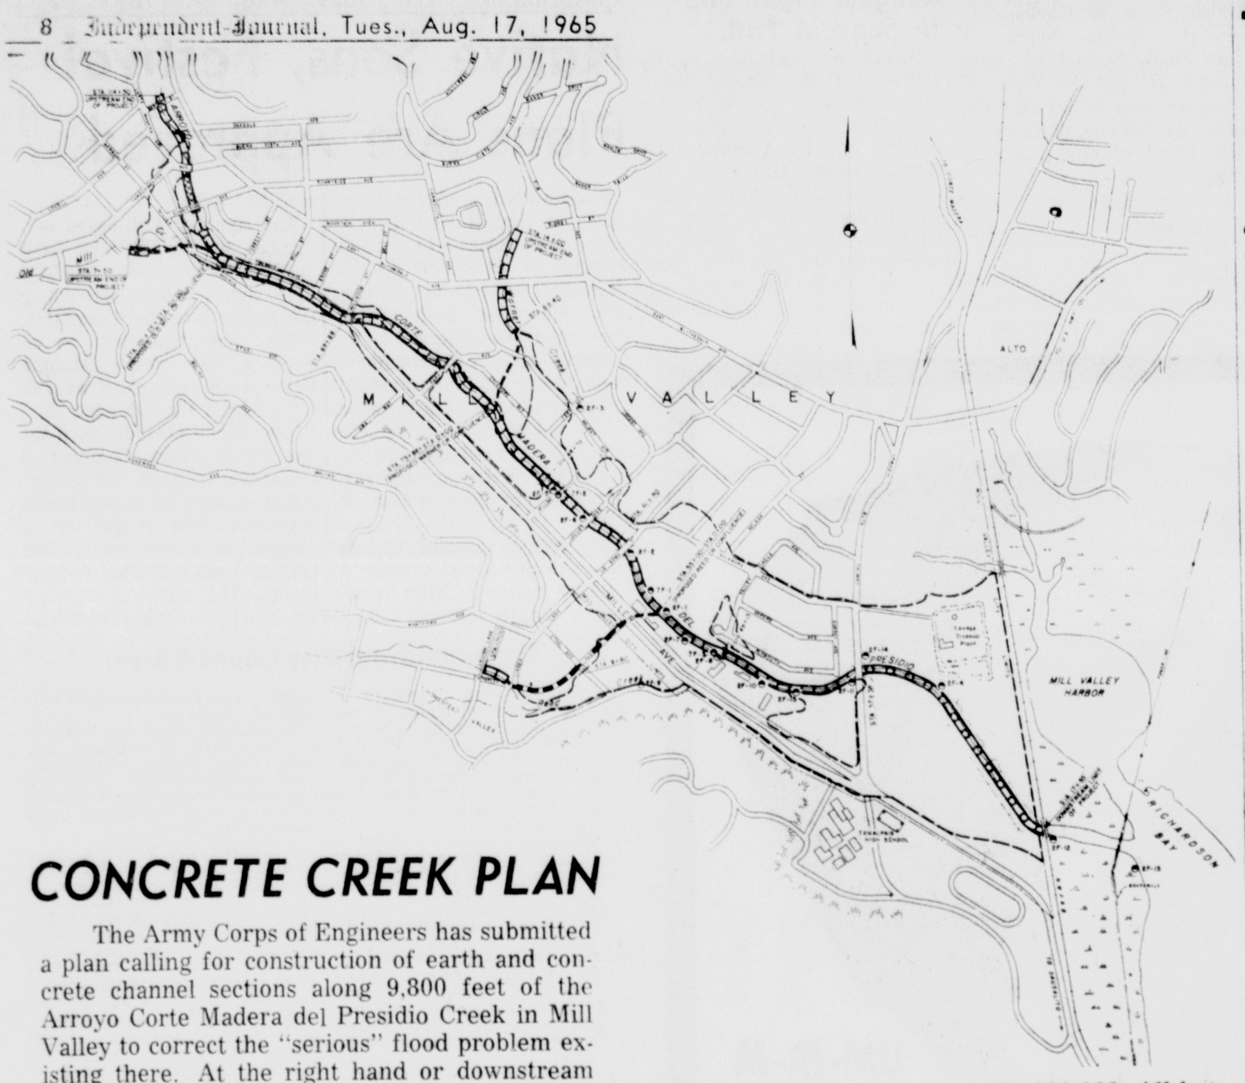

Firemen said the entire structure was aflame when they arrived.

An investigation was begun to determine the cause.

CONCRETE CREEK PLAN

The Army Corps of Engineers has submitted a plan calling for construction of earth and concrete channel sections along 9,800 feet of the Arroyo Corte Madera del Presidio Creek in Mill Valley to correct the "serious" flood problem existing there. At the right hand or downstream end of the creek, 1,900 feet would be earth channel with levees. The remaining portion from Camino Alta to a point just extending above Gardner Avenue (upper left), would have concrete channels. Reed Creek and Warner Creek would be relocated and given concrete culverts and channels. The downstream portion of Old Mill Creek would get the same treatment. Total cost of the project is estimated at $4,310,000. All but $825,000 would be paid by the federal government. The non-federal cost would be for project lands, easements, rights-of-way, relocation of utilities and modification of bridges. A public hearing on the proposal will be held at 8 p.m. Aug. 30 in the Board of Supervisors Chambers at the Marin County Civic Center.

Teen-Age VD Rate Increases

Marin County teen-agers are contacting venereal disease at an alarmingly increasing rate this year, and public health authorities fear that the worst is yet to come.

A statistical comparison between the first seven months of 1964 and the same period this year, issued today by county public health officer, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, shows an increase of 53.6 per cent in the reports of gonorrhea among those under 20.

The same comparison shows that the number of syphilis cases reported among teenagers has more than doubled, from two last year to five this year.

Dan R. Pelz, public health education director, was concerned today because there is usually a sharp increase in teenage veneral disease during the final four to six weeks of summer vacation.

"We are afraid we will have even more of a problem unless we get through to them now," said Pelz.

He said the late summer seems to be a particularly dangerous time of the year for teen-agers, possibly because there are more parties and beach outings as the school term draws closer.

"Syphilis and gonorrhea are highly contagious venereal diseases, spread through intimate physical contact," Dr. Albrecht explained.

She said diagnosis and treatment of these diseases are simple to physicians, but warned that self-diagnosis and treatment is dangerous and insufficient.

Pelz pointed out that gonorrhea can damage or even incapacitate the reproductive organs, while syphilis can result in heart or mental damage.

Pelz said that while Marin county authorities are concerned about the increase in venereal disease among teen-agers here, they say that it has not been as sharp an increase as that in most other counties.

Dr. Albrecht urged anyone who suspects he may be inflicted to visit his physician or the Marin County Health Department free clinic, which is open every weekday from 9 a.m. until neen. All cases of venereal disease are kept confidential under California law, she said.

Shakespeare 'Noise' Is Discussed

Marin Art and Garden Center Directors met last night to discuss complaints emanating from Saturday night's conflict between the Edward R. Bunting family on Skyland Way, Ross, and an audience at the Marin Shakespeare Festival's production of "Romeo and Juliet."

"We were extremely surprised to have an affair like that arise out of the blue," the center's vice president James Goodale said. "We had had no complaints from those people before."

He said some of the directors will go up to the Bunting home during the festival's next performance to see just how loud the noise from the performance is.

"We have no deside to disturb anyone," he said. "But at the same time we do not wish to be disturbed ourselves."

Mrs. Bunting complained that the sound reaching her home from the festival productions was "a hideous noise . . . an awful racket . . . just plain gibberish."

She said she retaliated by turning up the volume on her Hi Fi set, an action which drowned out the words of the actors below and sent members of the audience to complain at her home.

Mrs. Bunting charged the people from the audience slapped her son and struck a dinner guest in the face, giving him a bloody nose.

Novato Woman Frets Over Weeds At Home

Mrs. Robert W. Casady of 1419 Monte Maria Avenue, Novato, is burned up about the weeds adjacent to her back yard.

Sunday she pulled up an armload of weeds and delivered them to the front door of the model home and tract office of KDN, Inc., developers, next door.

She admitted it was wrong to trespass, but said "I knew I had to do something to stir them to action."

The only action so far was a statement from Paul Nelson, a stockholder in the corporation, who said that the weeds were going to remain as holding material for the steep bank behind the model home.

Yesterday, Mrs. Cassady returned to the model home with another load of weeds. She was asked not to dump them at the front door and did not.

Company Supt. Lonnie Daniel Snell, however, complained to police about Mrs. Cassady yesterday, but he said he would not ask that a complaint be filed.

"All we can see from our back yard is that bank of weeds," Mrs. Cassady said.

Tree Raising Is Planned

The Novato Civic foundation, with the help of other organizations, this morning launched a long range beautification and money raising project with the cooperation of the North Marin County Water District.

The foundation will plant an acre of small evergreen trees at the water treatment plant site at Stafford Dam. After one year these small trees will be used to landscape park and watershed lands.

Then, as the unused trees reach suitable size, they will be sold as Christmas trees.

August 1965 marks the 175th anniversary of the first U.S. Census. At that time they counted 3,929,214 people, 201,655 in urban areas, and 3,727,559 in rural areas.

Machine Catches Millman's Arm

A 40-year-old millman was rushed to San Rafael General Hospital after his left arm was caught in an automatic saw shortly before noon today.

Carl Ipsen of Cotati received emergency treatment for severe lacerations after the accident at Tru-Star Corp., 533 Irwin Street, where he was working at cutting formica counter tops.

Muir Woods Tract Given Plan Priority

Marin County planning commissioners agreed last night that rezoning of the Muir Woods tract should be placed on the planning staff's priority list.

The action came at the request of the Muir Woods Park Improvement Assn., which criticized the commission's recent approval of a lot split by Adela Rutten on Edgewater Avenue.

Approval of this lot split and others creates a problem that is detrimental to the area and contributes to deterioration of the community, the association reported.

Commissioner Harry H. Heifetz reported that he had received telephone calls that some residents were told by a member of the planning staff that they would not be heard at the hearing on the Rutten lot split.

Planning Director B. D. Dobbs said that no staff member ever told a resident he could not appear at a hearing, and that the reports may have resulted from a misunderstanding.

Dr. Raymond Hively of 700 Edgewood Avenue, who was in the audience, said that he wrote the letter about the incident because he and his wife were told they need not appear at the hearing.

Heifetz said the letter was not presented to the commission, and should have been.

Dobbs said he had sent a letter to the county counsel's office to determine if the case could be re-heard, and was told that it was closed.

The letter is available to the commission, he said.

Corte Madera's Tax Rate Down Five Cents

A fiscal 1966 tax rate of $1.04 per $100 assessed value, down five cents from last year, and a final budget of $626,360 for fiscal 1966 were adopted by the Corte Madera town council last night.

The budget includes $28,399 for unappropriated reserve, $225,399 for expenses of general government, $102,273 for the police department, $56,042 for the fire department, $22,539 for the building, planning and zoning department and $221,413 for the public works department.

The first change in the final budget was made shortly after it was approved when the council approved a transfer of $200 for the unappropriated reserve to the police clothing allowance account.

The transfer will allow $100 per policeman for uniform replacement which some of the officers spent with the understanding that the council was allowing that amount instead of reducing the allowance to $75 per man.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

1. Awarded a contract for reconstruction of Paradise Drive from the Northwestern Pacific Railroad crossing to El Camino Drive to Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael on the company's bid of $39,947.07, the lowest of three bids received on the project.

2. Awarded a $1,591.20 contract for a chain link fence around a slough area in the town park, adjacent to Neil Cummins School, to Anchor Fence Co. which submitted the lowest of three bids on the fence. The engineer's estimate on the fence was $1,800.

3. Approved plans and specifications for improvement of Meadowsweet Drive from Tamalpais Drive to the town limits. Bids on the project, estimated to cost $24,244, will be opened Sept. 7.

4. Approved the final map of a three-lot subdivision proposed by Keith Anderson on the East side of Corte Madera Avenue, west of Montecito Avenue.

5. Adopted an ordinance prohibiting parking with 10 feet of each side of four driveways on Paradise Drive, immediately south of the Tamalpis Drive overpass. Violation of the ordinance, which will go into effect in 30 days, could result in a maximum $50 fine and 10 days in county jail.

6. Authorized Town Manager Ronald L. Usher to purchase three pickup trucks for the city through the state department of general services at $200 saving per vehicle.

7. Approved use of painted aluminum sign blanks with reflectorized letters for replacement of street signs.

8. Adopted a budget for expenditure of a portion of the $54,673.43 allocated to the city from the state highway fund. Funds totaling $16,458 have been allocated for maintenance of certain select and minor streets and $9,100 has been allocated for reconstruction of Tamal Vista Boulevard from Madera Boulevard to Fifer Avenue.

9. Adopted a resolution approving the recommendation of the county planning commission for a park and recreation area with marina and golf course south of Corte Madera Creek, east of Highway 101.

10. Approved appointment of Novato Mayor Robert Carrow and Corte Madera Mayor Edward Colthurst as representatives of Marin's cities on the Marin County Rapid Transit District board.

11. Indicated interest in participating the fall and winter recreation program of the City of Larkspur and asked that the city prepare an estimate of the cost of Corte Madera's share in the program.

Death Row Inmate To Court

After more than two years on Death Row, George Washington Bostick, 29, left San Quentin Prison today to return to Los Angeles for a new trial, ordered by the California Supreme Court.

The court based its decision on the Dorado case in which a murder conviction was reversed because the accused man was not informed of his rights to an attorney when he was arrested.

Bostick came to Death Row April 5, 1963, after conviction for the 1962 killing of a Los Angeles man during a robbery. He is a native of Florida.

His departure reduces the Row's population to 48 although in fact only 47 inhabitants crowd that topmost sixth floor of the north cell block.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said today the 48th total includes one man who is temporarily absent, called as a witness in a fellow prisoner's new trial.

After Alaska's earthquakes, Seward's harbor, normally 30 to 120 feet deep, sank to levels ranging from 390 to 450 feet deep. At Valdez, the sea bottom slid out into the channel, deepening the port by as much as 150 feet.

Hub Rec Center Survey Planned

A survey of San Anselmo residents to find out if they want a community recreation center will be made this fall by the San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission.

"We hope to find out what kind of recreation program the residents would like to see developed," Andrew J. Snyder Jr., director, said today.

He reported only two of the many service clubs and civic organizations invited to send representatives to last night's meeting to discuss the community center were represented at the meeting.

Willis Evans, supervisor of fisheries of the State Department of Fish and Game, who was scheduled to discuss stocking San Anselmo creeks with fish at the meeting was not present.

West Marin Property Owners Attack Density In Master Plan

West Marin property owners yesterday attacked the density requirements of the West Marin Master Plan as a form of condemnation that would make development economically impossible.

During a two-and-a-half hour public hearing before the Marin County Planing Commission, Judge David R. Baty of Point Reyes Station urged that property rights of the residents be considered.

"I think there would be an effort to incorporate to get off this requirement," he said.

The plan by Mary and Harold Summers and Dan Coleman Associates calls for lots ranging from one acre to five acres, depending upon the slope.

Coleman explained that the intent is to "keep the area countrified" and higher density would destroy the rural atmosphere.

He presented a report on two parcels, one where there would be one dwelling unit allowed per every 3.87 acres and another where there would be one dwelling unit allowed for every 2.65 acres.

Commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. said that density proposed plus requirements for underground utilities, sewage systems and standard streets "would prevent development on any reasonable basis."

Mrs. Summers said that the density is similar to that planned for San Geronimo Valley and Stinson Beach-Bolinas "to bring out the character of rural environment."

The county could give some consideration to land owners such as allowing septic tanks so it would be economically feasible to develop the land, she said.

Attorneys E. Warren Maguire and Bryan McCarthy, representing West Marin property owners, and Henry Hankins, representing the Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce opposed the planned density.

Hankins submitting a recommendation from the chamber recommending one-acre lots throughout.

Gordon Pusser, real estate broker, submitted a letter from owners of 25 per cent of the land covered by the master plan, asking that there be further study before lot sizes are fixed.

Commissioners also heard protests against the shoreline route for a scenic highway as shown in the plan, along Tomales Bay.

Opponents urged a ridge route which would not go through the shoreline communities.

Baty said the proposed shoreline route would have the effect of shutting off the towns from the bay.

The commission decided to study the route and density requirements further and continue the hearing until 2 p.m. Oct. 4.

Marin County Planning Commission Also:

1. Postponed the hearing on eliminating interim zoning in Marin from Aug. 30 until Oct. 18.
2. Continued until Aug. 30 an application by Buttes Gas and oil for a permit to extract minerals and maintain trailers and vans on the Gambonini Ranch, north of Marshall-Petaluma Road, about eight miles north of Marshall.
3. Granted Edna Lieben a permit for temporary location of a house trailer on the south side of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard between Lagunitas Road and Mountain View Avenue, Lagunitats, on appeal of a denial by the county zoning administrator.
4. Granted Fred Martinez architectural supervision for fencing of the parking area at the Van Dame restaurant, Petaluma and Yuba streets, Waldo Point.
5. Granted Consumers Co-op of Berkeley architectural supervision for a commercial center, south of the McGraw Hill book distribution center, between Highway 101 and Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera.

Commissioner William F. Upton was absent.

Escaper From Camp Picked Up

Alvin E. Austin, 35, one of two prisoners who ran off July 27 from the San Quentin Prison minimum security camp near Weott in Humboldt County was picked up today near Oroville in Butte County.

Austin, from Los Angeles County, had been serving time since March 1961 for first degree robbery which carried a term of from five years to life.

Cement Taken

Leslie F. Miles, 48, of Santa Rosa, owner of the Miles Plastering Co. yesterday reported to Novato police that someone had taken 20 bags of 100 pounds each of plastic cement valued at $50 from his construction sites in San Marin sometime between 11 p.m. Sunday and 7:30 a.m. yesterday.

Ross Council Sets Session On Budget

The Ross Town Council will meet in a special session Thursday at 8 p.m. in the town hall to approve a final budget and set the city's tax rate for fiscal 1966.

Mayor Frederick S. Allen also announced today that the regular September meeting will be Friday, Sept. 10, instead of its previously scheduled date of Sept. 13.

NANCY'S PRIZES — "Miss Sonoma-Marin," Nancy Egan of 48 Corte Morada, Greenbrae, will be in Petaluma Saturday and Sunday, distributing prizes for contests held during the Petaluma Old Adobe Days Fiesta. The festival, which begins Saturday at noon will include a sky-diving exhibition, Indian dances, boat races and a barbecue.

Publisher Weds In San Diego

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—James S. Copley, chairman of the Copley Press Inc. and publisher of the San Diego Union and the Evening Tribune, and Mrs. Helen Hunt were married yesterday.

The private ceremony, performed by the Most Rev. Francis J. Furey, bishop of the San Diego Roman Catholic diocese, took place in the bishop's residential chapel.

Mill Valley Council Against Creek Concrete Ditch Plan

Mill Valley city councilmen last night indicated their dislike of the Army Corps of Engineers' concrete ditch proposal for flood control along the Arroyo Corte Madera del Presidio Creek in Mill Valley.

At the same time they took steps to assure the engineers they appreciate the time, money and effort put into the study for the plan and would like an opportunity to work with them on a somewhat different plan "which would be more aesthetically pleasing to the people of Mill Valley."

Basically the plan calls for concrete channels along 9,700 feet of the creek from Camino Alto Highway to Gardner Avenue. This ditch would be guarded by a chain link fence on both sides. From Camino Alto, down to the railroad trestle, the plan calls for 1,900 feet of earth channelization.

The council instructed City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer to write a letter conveying its feelings to the engineers. Mayor Michale Wornum said he plans to attend the public hearing on the plan in the board of supervisors room at the county Civic Center at 8 p.m. Aug. 30.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

1. Awarded a contract of $23,666 to Collishaw Sprinkler Co., Inc., of Santa Clara for the first phase of improvement at Old Mill Park.
2. Introduced an ordinance of annexation for the Alto Corridor No. 1 after no protests were made in a public hearing.
3. Held over until Sept. 7 public hearings on rezoning and minor subdivision of the two parcels of land and a conditional use permit for another parcel.
4. Adopted an ordinance changing duplex zoning regulations to allow more than two dwelling units on a lot, as long as density requirements covering square footage of land per dwelling unit are met.
5. Agreed to contract with Manufacturer's Life of Canada for city employees' group life and accidental insurance at a rate of 61 cents per $1,000 insurance. Each employee will have $5,000 of each type of insurance.
6. Appointed Neill Smith, an architect, and Edward Kagi, a landscape architect, to the city's Architectural Advisory Committee.
7. Appointed Jasper Strandgaard, structural engineer, Fred Bitgood, general contractor, Jack Brabo, plumbing contractor, James Tawns, electrical contractor, and Albert Bianchi, attorney, to the city's new Board of Appeals. Councilman Albert E. White objected to Bianchi's appointment, saying with his large clientel in the county he might have a conflict of interest.
8. Passed a resolution accepting improvements in Battle Ridge No. 1 subdivision.
9. Passed a resolution removing Alto Bowl No. 1 annexation from Alto-Richardson Bay Fire District.
10. Passed a resolution which will allow the city to run a sewer line under the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks at Lomita Drive.
11. Agreed to take $4,600 from golf funds to make health and safety improvements at the clubhouse at the municiple golf course. Balmer said he would ask the recreation commission to raise golf fees 25 or 50 cents to raise money for other improvements on the clubhouse.

Auto Is Stolen

Theft of a 1963 model Corvet Sting Ray convertible from its parking place at 711 Meadowsweet Avenue, Corte Madera, was reported to police at 7:45 a.m. today by Mrs. Edwin D. Dixon of 711 Meadowsweet Avenue. The ignition of the white and dark blue vehicle was locked but the doors were not, police said.

LOTS OF WORDS BUT LITTLE ACTION

San Rafael Council Throws Out All Bids For Traffic Signals At Third, Lincoln

An hour's worth of wordage about San Rafael parking problems produced little action at last night's city council meeting.

The main result was to throw out all bids for installation of traffic signals at Second Street and Lincoln Avenue and a call for new bids Sept. 7, without widening Lincoln in order to relocate five parking places wiped out by the signals.

Thomas V. Parks, operator of an auto electric supply firm at Second Street and Lincoln Avenue, urged the widening, citing the city's Coleman Report that 35,000 cars would be using the intersection daily within a few years. He urged that new parking be restricted to green curb, short-time parking or to yellow loading zone, but got a cool reception from the council.

Councilman Charles W. Aby questioned whether the city should spend $4,500 to $9,000 to replace parking spaces at this time; Councilman Louis H. Baar feared the city's future one-way traffic pattern would "flood" the intersection with traffic and make all parking impossible.

Turning to the other side of the downtown area, the council asked the traffic committee to study a recommendation that parking meters be installed in the present all-day parking areas on B and C streets between Fifth and Mission avenues.

The council gave short shrift to an appeal from Merle S. Greenblat, vice president of Marin Motorsports Inc., 1542 Fourth Street, about his store's parking problem. He wrote that the store gets tickets in batches of eight and 10 at a time on motorcycles parked in the two meter spaces available.

"The street is for public parking; we can't allow merchants to display materials," declared Councilman Aby. The council agreed.

Rifle, Ski Boards, Liquor Stolen

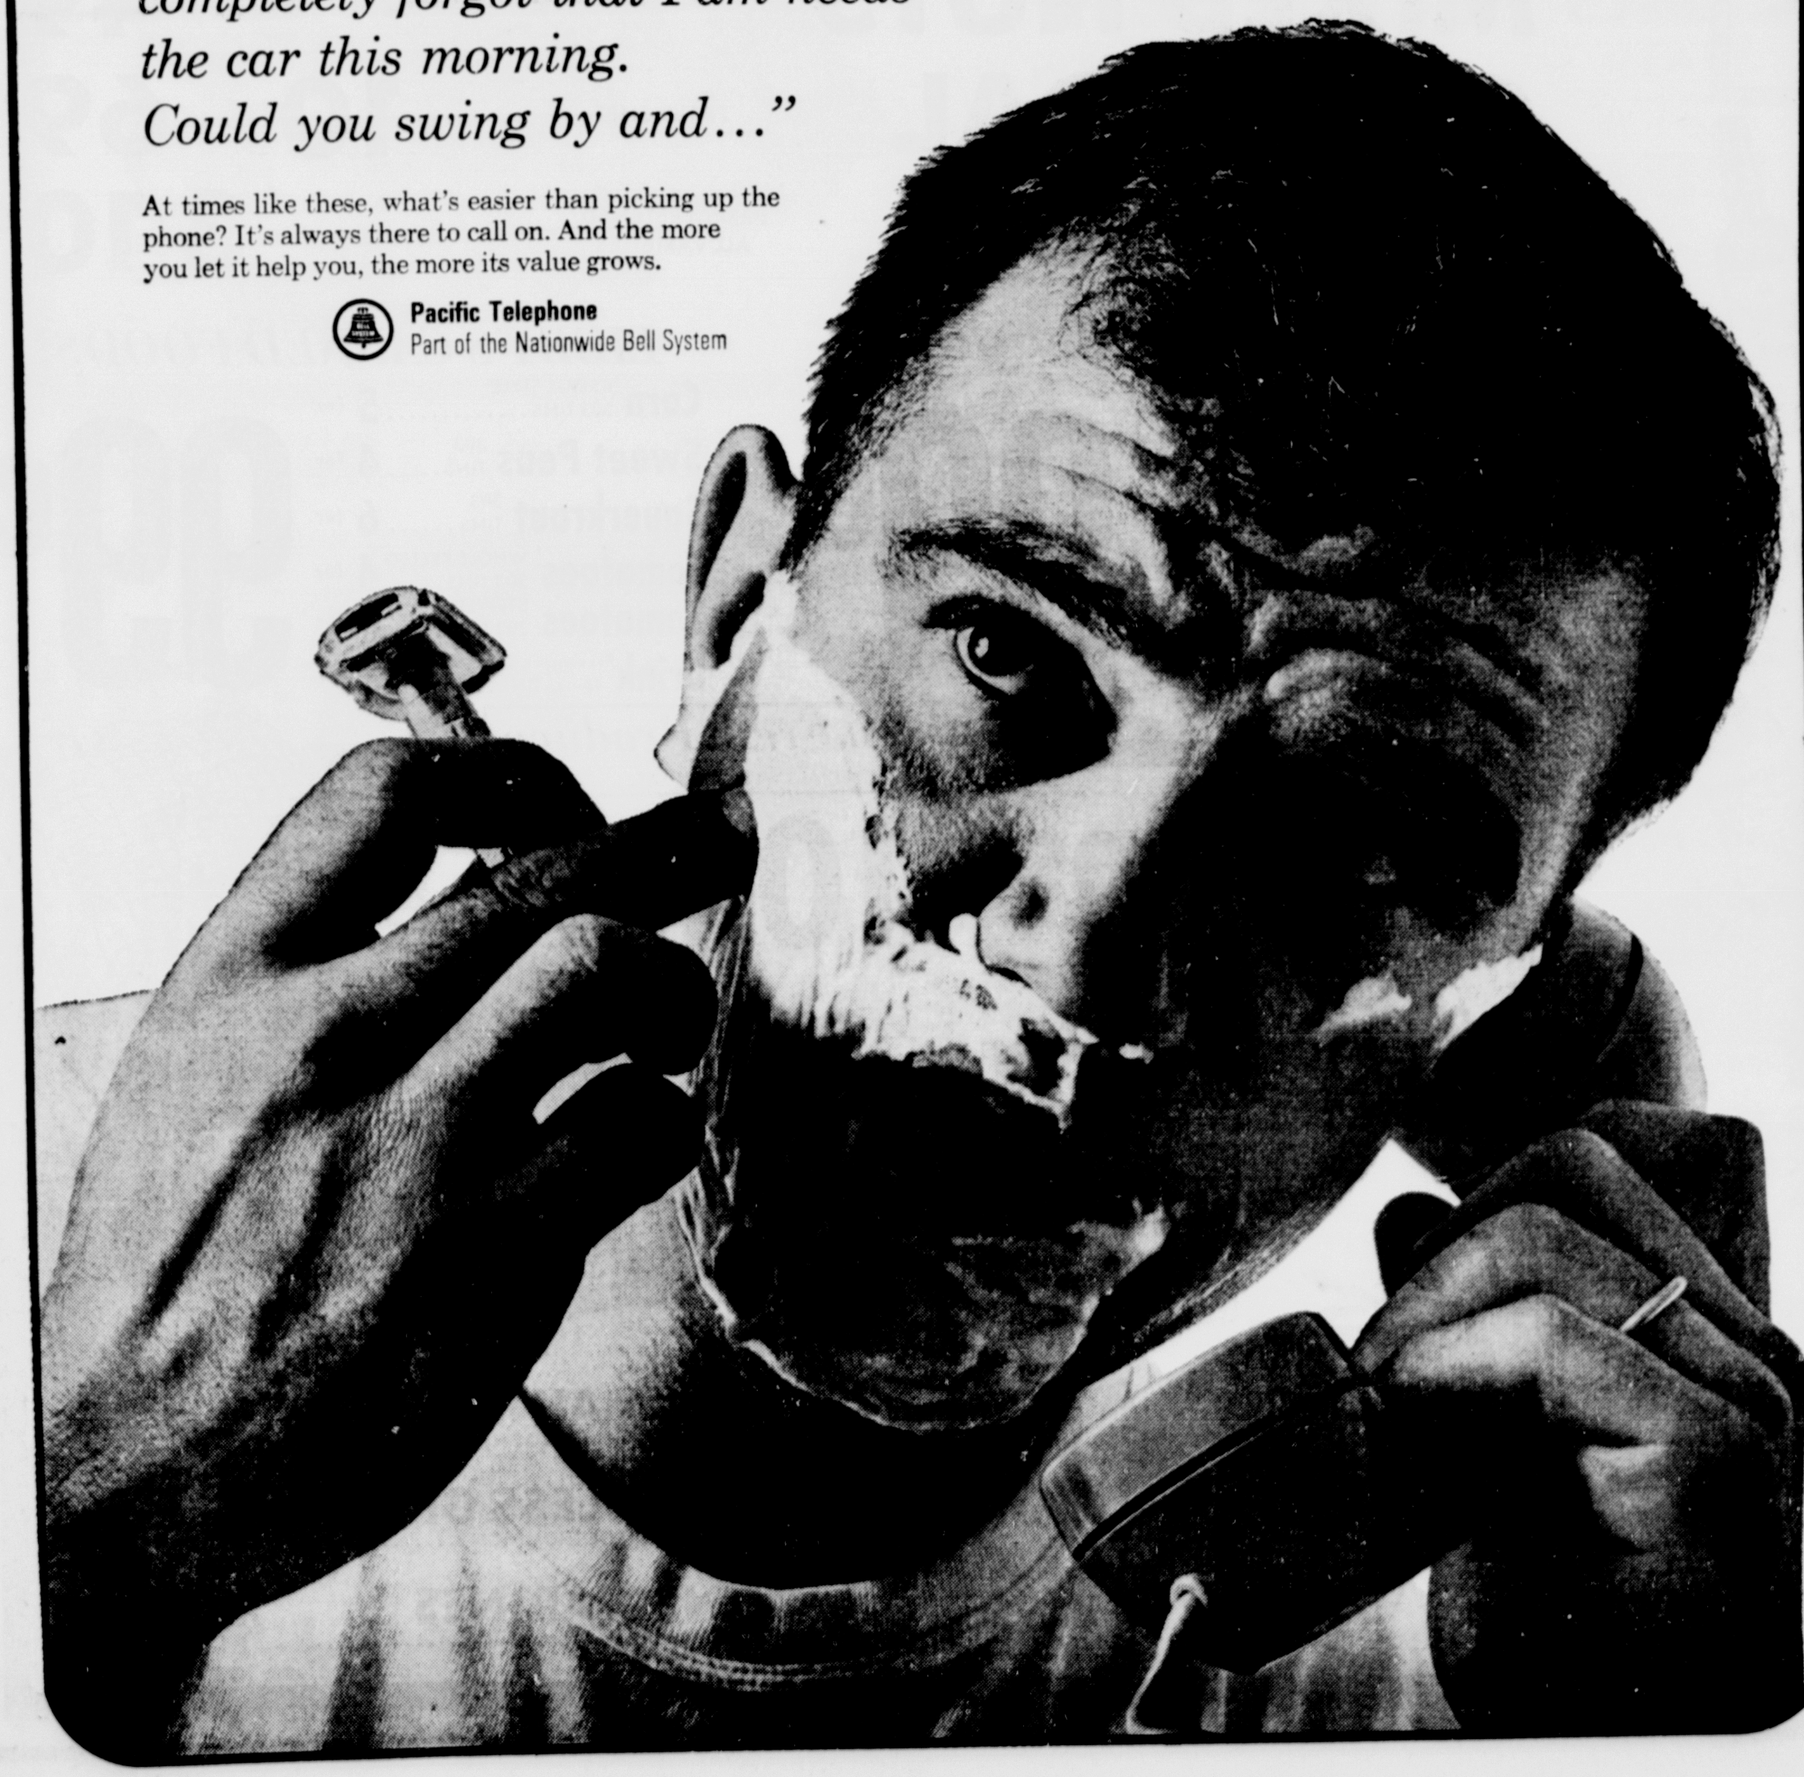

A .30-.30 hunting rifle, ski boards and liquor of undetermined value have been stolen from the home of Dr. John L. Manwaring on Morrison Road, Ross Police Chief Joseph Regoni reported today.

The burglary was discovered when the physician and his family returned last night from a two-week vacation, Regoni said. A kitchen window was broken to gain entry.

"Ben? I'm phoning 'cause I completely forgot that Pam needs the car this morning. Could you swing by and..."

At times like these, what's easier than picking up the phone? It's always there to call on. And the more you let it help you, the more its value grows.

Storms Hit Plains, East South Sultry

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms and rain hit wide areas from the Plains into the Midwest today and sultry weather continued in most of the East and South.

Severe storms lashed sections in the Midwest yesterday and during the night. Eight inches of rain drenched Lawson, Mo., about 20 miles northeast of Kansas City. Four to six inches of rain doused the Excelsior Springs area south of Lawson.

Three construction workers were killed and a fourth was seriously injured when lightning struck a stockpile of dynamite at the Hell Hole Dam project 40 miles northeast of Auburn, Calif., in the Sierra Nevada. The workmen were building a dam across the Rubicon River.

Stormy weather swept areas in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Indiana and Michigan. Tornadic winds hit Fort Wayne, Ind., after the hottest Aug. 16 on record for the city, a sweltering 95. Nearly an inch of rain fell in 10 minutes. Gusty winds also lashed Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Springfield, Mo., and Lone Rock, Wis., in severe thunderstorms.

Showers fell in scattered sections of the Gulf Coast and in the central and southern sections of the West, mostly in mountain regions. Nearly two inches of rain felel in Mobile, Ala., yesterday.

Record high temperatures for Aug. 16 were reported in some cities. The 94 mark at Birmingham, Ala., was the highest reading this year and the 94 at Pittsburgh tied the record high for the date. Early morning temperatures ranged from 51 at Butte, Mont., to 88 at Yuma, Ariz.

Dark Horse Is Named Planner In San Rafael Over Protests

San Rafael city councilmen unanimously appointed a dark horse to the city planning commission last night.

They selected Peacock Gap resident Jorgen V. Lunding, a civil engineer, despite vigorous "conflict of interest" protests voiced by Loch Lomond residents who wanted to see the appointment of Franklin Battat, president of the Loch Lomond Homeowners Assn.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini first recommended appointment of Battat, but was unable to get a motion from the council. Meanwhile, a letter from another candidate, former City Engineer Dominic J. Selmi, said that his doctor felt he cannot serve for health reasons.

Councilman Fred Jensen, who had earlier favored Selmi, then urged Lunding's appointment. Bettini consented to recommend the appointment, after City Atty. David Menary Jr. explained that his earlier nomination was dead because it failed to get council approval.

In the roll-call vote, Bettini first voted "no" but later changed it to "yes" because he actually had recommended Lunding and wished to make it unanimous, he said.

As the audience filed out before Bettini changed the vote, someone loudly declared, "railroad!!"

Loch Lomond resident W. William Gudmundson objected to "running in a new name at the last minute" and declared that the citizens should have a new chance to investigate Lunding. As a civil engineer who was active in Peacock Gap development, Lunding cannot help but face at least "moral" conflict of interest problems, Gudmondson argued.

MORGEN V. LUNDING
Dark horse appointed

Building contractor Allen Larkins Jr. defended Lunding's high professional and ethical standards.

"I'm very unhappy if my late throw of my hat into the ring is causing confusion," Lunding said from the floor. "I wanted to make sure I could devote enough time to the job before I volunteered," by letter on Friday.

Lunding said the city faces a critical time in revamping ordinances for cluster housing, slope control and other new developments, and must fill these into the uniform building code in a practical manner to assure the enjoyment of better living which is the ultimate goal of the changes.

He said that although he formerly appeared before the city council for Latipac on the Peacock Gap development, he no longer has any connection with any Marin County development and is working exclusively on Peninsula projects.

Lunding and his wife, natives of Denmark, came to the United States 15 years ago. They have four children, all living at 241 Riviera Drive.

Lunding, both a licensed civil engineer and a contractor, was educated at the University of Copenhagen and in Sweden in architectural engineering.

He fills the vacancy created when Charles J. Hendrickson left the planning commission June 30.

Public Works Jury Report Angers Behr

The public works committee of the 1963 Marin County Grand Jury was scored today by Chairman Peter H. Behr of the county board of supervisors for its criticisms of the public works department in the committee's recent interim report.

Behr was most critical of the "rather brutal way" in which the subject of older employees was handled.

Supervisors accepted a report from Public Works Director Donald R. Frost replying to the committee report. They took no action, however, agreeing to wait until the entire grand jury committee could appear.

Only committee member present today was Mrs. Marion C. Kelly. She told the supervisors she agreed that wording of the report in the section about older personnel "was probably unfortunate."

Behr said he had read the supporting material on which the committee had formed its report, but "could not come to the same conclusions."

The jury report had suggested that some employees were not earning their pay and "it could be difficult to dispose of these men." The jury also criticized department purchasing practices.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen complained that Behr should not criticize the jury report without talking to the committee members first. Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker agreed with Behr, terming the report's choice of words "absolutely fantastic."

Vandalism Spree At Schools Ends

A two-week spree of vandalism and burglary at two Kentfiled elementary schools was apparently ended yesterday with arrest of two 13-year-old students of the Kentfield district by sheriff's officers.

The pair, identified through a tip from John A. Guendner, custodian at Adaline Kent School, were booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall early yesterday on charges of malicious mischief, vandalism and burglary.

THIRD YOUTH

A third youth, 12, was questioned but released by officers after it was determined he accompanied the two suspects on only one vandalism incident, but did not participate.

A detention hearing in Juvenile Court for the two was scheduled this morning.

Deputies said 10 separate acts of vandalism, mostly at Adaline Kent School, began about Aug. 2. Windows have been broken, offices entered and desks ransacked, and a firehose case was broken into and the school's courtyard flooded.

AIR VENT

Wolfe Grade School also was victim Aug. 3 of a breakin by dismantling a door's air vent. Officers said janitorial supplies and other school items were scattered over a wide area.

The youths, allegedly attempting another breakin, were recognized by Guendner early yesterday. He telephoned deputies from the school. The latter arrived and chased the pair, but lost them in a field near the College of Marin gymnasium.

On description of the two by Guendner, deputies went to the home of one suspect and arrested him shortly after. The second was brought to the sheriff's office by his parents.

Tiburon Council, Planners Set Up Special Session

The Tiburon city council and planning commission will meet in special joint session at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Del Mar School to decide whether the city should purchase a piece of waterfront property to preserve it from commercial development.

Robert Moor of Tiburon Tidelands Co., which holds option to 18 acres of dry and underwater land from the Northwestern Pacific Railroad, told city councilmen on Aug. 9 that he would be willing to sell some of the waterfront land next to the commercial area of the city. He set no sale price and gave no details on the size of the parcel during that council meeting.

Moor met with Mayor Gordon W. Strawbridge and Councilman Mrs. Jacqueline A. Parnell on Friday and agreed to come up with a written sale proposal for the meeting tomorrow, Mrs. Parnell said.

The planning Commission has under consideration a proposal to construct a 180-berth yacht harbor and a restaurant-shops building on a part of the land between Main and Mar East streets.

Moor has proposed to construct the harbor, restaurant, commercial buildings and town houses on the property.

Store Holdup Called Well Rehearsed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two gunmen who took about $65,000 in cash and checks yesterday from an armed messenger in a Safeway store, apparently were well rehearsed, police say.

The pair escaped in an unlicensed car.

Police inspectors said there were more than 40 customers and employees in the Market Street Safeway when the holdup occurred.

"I saw the whole thing but I couldn't believe it was really happening," said Ron Hamann, 19, a checker.

The gunmen were milling among customers when Roy Zayas, 51, a messenger for Loomis armored car company, entered.

Zayas picked up the store's weekend receipts — $25,000 in cash and an estimated $40,000 in checks.

One gunman jammed a .45 caliber automatic in Zayas' ribs and the other handcuffed him to a railing.

Zayas had to wait until firemen arrived to cut him loose.

Speech Figure Chooses Jail

BERKELEY (UPI)—Barbara Bridges, 21, yesterday became the seventh convicted University of California free speech demonstrator to choose jail over bail.

She took a 25-day sentence after telling Judge Floyd Talbott that she could not post $250.

Another 75 other young sit-in demonstrators posted bond yesterday in order to appeal their conviction.

Sewer Cleaner Contract Let

Directors of the Almonte sanitary district last night approved a contract with Roto-Rooter Sewer Service of San Anselmo for maintenance and cleaning of district lines at an average cost of $150 a month.

Directors approved an agreement with the Homestead Valley Sanitary District to exchange connection services on their common boundary so that some residents of the Almonte district might connect to Homestead sewer lines if they are closer than Almonte lines, or Homestead residents might connect to Almonte lines, Almonte director Fred H. Field explained.

The next Almonte district meeting will be at 8 p.m. Sept. 28 at 225 Shoreline Boulevard.

Park, Rec Group Caught In Saw

The Novato Little League All Star's winning a place in the Western Divisional finals playoff at Portland, Ore., Thursday, has changed at least one local plan.

The Novato Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission and Planning Commission had planned a joint meeting for 8 p.m. Thursday. Last night the parks and recreation commission postponed it until Aug. 26, because some of the members wanted to go to Portland to see the game Thursday.

Fall Recreation Plan Approved

The Novato Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission last night gave approval to the fall recreation program as recommended by Director Edward W. Adams.

Adams said plans for 17 programs for the fall and spring recreation programs. New programs would include slim-trim, basketball league and baton classes. The Lynwood School will be added to the list, making a total of five, on which after school recreation programs have been planned.

Mrs. John Machado wrote to suggest that the commission ask the council to designate the proposed 30 cent tax for just park aquisition. The commission agreed to ask the council to reconsider its action in which it labeled the 30 cents for park and civic center acquisition, to just park acquisition.

Man Taken Off Bridge

A 27-year-old unemployed Oakland man told California Highway patrolmen he was contemplating suicide as he stood near the north tower of the Golden Gate Bridge at 2:40 a.m. yesterday, drinking beer.

He was identified as Lee S. Hall Jr. Patrolmen said he could give no reasons for being despondent as they took him off the bridge without a struggle.

Hall's car was found parked and locked at the entrance to the Vista Point parking area. He was taken to Napa State Hospital for examination.

Gets Probation In Molest Case

Kenneth L. Richards, 30, was placed on five years probation in Marin Superior Court yesterday for the 1963 molesting of a 5-year-old San Anselmo girl.

The judgment by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner came after extensive sexual psychopathic treatment at Atascadero State Hospital.

Richards, of Richmond, had pleaded guilty to the March 28, 1963, molesting. On May 8 of that year he was sent to the hospital. He was released last July 26.

Woman Is Killed In Auto Accident

LAKEPORT (AP)—Mrs. May Ray, 37, of Santa Rosa, was killed and three other passengers injured last night when their car left Scotts Valley Road near Lakeport and crashed into a tree.

Hospitalized in fair condition were William Lee Duncan, 18; Rosemary Ray, 7, and Freddie K. Ray, 9.

An American bald eagle's nest was 12 feet tall, eight and one-half feet wide and weighed two tons when, in its 36th year, it fell in a storm along with the tree it occupied.

Fire Station Addition Due

Construction will start in about 10 days on an addition to the second fire station in the Tiburon Fire District.

The split level addition for the fire house at Paradise Drive and Trestle Glen Boulevard will include a dormitory, kitchen, office and locker room. It was designed by Belvedere architect Allan Steinau.

Tiburon fire commissioners on Saturday approved a low bid of $27,788 for construction work by contractor Laurence Vantrease of Novato.

Social Security Benefits Go Up; But So Do The Supporting Taxes

By JOHN TROAN
NEA Special Writer

(Last of a Series)

As Social Security benefits increase, so does the tax that makes them possible.

When the program started in 1937, the Social Security tax for workers was one per cent on the first $3,000 earned. By 1965, it had risen to 3⅝ per cent on the first $4,800.

Effective Jan. 1, 1966, it will be 4 1/5 per cent on the first $6,600 a year. And the tax is scheduled to go up, step by step, six more times before it crests in 1987 at almost 5⅔ per cent on the first $6,600 a year.

This is the tax rate for ordinary wage earners. In each case, it is matched by the employer.

For the self-employed, the tax rate for 1966 is set at 6 3/20 per cent on the first $6,600 of net earnings (compared to 5 2/5 per cent on the first $4,800 in 1965).

The rate for the self-employed will rise in six additional stages to a peak in 1987 of 7 4/5 per cent on the first $6,600 of net earnings.

Thus the maximum Social Security tax for an ordinary worker will rise from $174 in 1965 and $227.20 in 1966 to $372.90 in 1987. For the self-employed, the maximum will go up from $259.20 in 1965 and $405.90 in 1966 to $514.80 in 1987.

Some of the increase will finance the health benefits being extended to persons past 65 through the so-called Medicare program.

The Medicare portion of the Social Security tax will range from a little over one-third of one per cent in 1966 to four-fifths of one per cent in 1987.

This means the most any individual will have to pay for Medicare in 1966 will be $23.10 (an average of about $1.93 a month). In 1987, the maximum "Medicare tax" will be $52.30 (which comes to $4.40 a month).

This is to pay for the basic health benefits — hospital care, nursing-home care and certain types of care rendered in a patient's own home. The supplemental benefits, which are optional for persons past 65, will cost an individual $3 a month in the beginning.

The Medicare money goes into a special health fund. The rest of the tax is divided between two other Social Security funds. One (which gets most of the money) provides retirement and survivors' benefits; the other, disability benefits.

Practically everybody who works is covered by Social Security. The last of the big "holdouts"—self-employed physicians—will pay Social Security taxes for the first time (on this year's earnings) when they file their 1965 income tax returns next year. Physicians who work for someone else (such as "company doctors") have been under Social Security since 1937.

Effective Jan. 1, 1966, medical and dental interns also come under Social Security. These are doctors getting on-the-job training before entering practice.

Starting with 1966, the rules governing earnings of self-employed farmers are changed. The new rules for such farmers read like this:

If you gross $2,400 or less in a year, you may report—for Social Security purposes—either your net earnings (profit) or two-thirds of your gross (overall income). If both figures are under $400, however, you can't report anything—because you're excluded from coverage.

If you gross over $2,400 and net $1,600 or more, you must report your actual profit. If you gross over $2,400 and net less than $1,600, you may report $1,600 or your actual net (provided it's at least $400).

The higher the amount you report, the higher your Social Security tax. And the higher the benefits you and your dependents will eventually get.

Congress also has extended the Social Security tax to tips, effective Jan. 1, 1966.

If a worker collects at least $20 in tips during a month while working for a particular employer, he will have to report the amount to his boss. This will have to be in writing by the tenth of the next month. The employer then will take out of the worker's next pay the Social Security tax that's due on these tips and send it to the government.

The boss won't have to match the tax on tips—though he must continue matching the employee's Social Security tax as far as the worker's regular wages are concerned.

WHAT YOU PAY FOR SOCIAL SECURITY

Here is how much a worker must pay in Social Security taxes (in each case, the amount is matched by the employer):

YEAR	TAX FOR CASH BENEFITS	TAX FOR MEDICARE	TOTAL TAX RATE	WAGES TAXED	MAXIMUM TAX
1965	3.625%	——	3.625%	$4800	$174.00
1966	3.85	0.35%	4.2	6600	277.20
1967-68	3.9	0.5	4.4	6600	290.40
1969-72	4.4	0.5	4.9	6600	323.40
1973-75	4.85	0.55	5.4	6600	356.40
1976-79	4.85	0.6	5.45	6600	359.70
1980-86	4.85	0.7	5.55	6600	366.30
1987 on	4.85	0.8	5.65	6600	372.90
SELF-EMPLOYED (No Matching Contribution from Employer)
1965	5.4	——	5.4	4800	259.20
1966	5.8	0.35	6.15	6600	405.90
1967-68	5.9	0.5	6.4	6600	422.40
1969-72	6.6	0.5	7.1	6600	468.60
1973-75	7.0	0.55	7.55	6600	498.30
1976-79	7.0	0.6	7.6	6600	501.60
1980-86	7.0	0.7	7.7	6600	508.20
1987 on	7.0	0.8	7.8	6600	514.80

Medicare Tax

This is the most any worker can be taxed in any year for the health benefits (Medicare) provided through Social Security:

1966	$23.10
1967-72	33.00
1973-75	36.30
1976-79	39.60
1980-86	46.20
1987 on	52.80

A worker's contribution is matched by his employer. The self-employed will be taxed at the same rate for Medicare purposes even though there is no matching contribution in their case.

The amounts above are included in the total Social Security tax.

Union Trial Is Planned By Painters

A union trial will be held to investigate a charge that a San Rafael painter was forced off a job in San Francisco Saturday by members of San Francisco Local Four.

The charge was made yesterday by George Scott, treasurer of the painters' union local 83 in San Rafael. He said the incident was a violation of union rules.

Scott said today that his local has notified the union's District Council Eight that it will prefer charges against Local Four. He said the trial, open only to union members, would probably take place in two or three weeks.

Scott said San Rafael painters still have not received a final copy of the contract negotiated with management groups by District Council Eight in San Francisco.

Meanwhile, he said, Local 83 painters are working under the conditions of the previous contract, except that they are being paid at the increased wage rates in the new contract.

Scott said he is also awaiting word from the union's international organizer, Al King, about whether the international will authorize Local 83 to switch from District Council Eight to District Council 16 in Alameda.

Driving Trial Is Rescheduled

Jury trial for Harold Raymond Cardwell, 44, charged with felony drunken driving, was rescheduled yesterday in Marin Superior Court for Oct. 18.

Cardwell, of 29 Mohawk Avenue, Corte Madera, originally was to go to trial last Tuesday. He allegedly was driver of a vehicle which struck a vehicle driven by Caesar C. Claudio of Milpitas, Santa Clara County, on Highway 101 last March 13. three persons were injured.

Property Tax Reform Called For By Storer

The present property tax is so inequitable and intolerable that the Legislature should go into special session to work out a tax reform program, Supervisor Thomas T. Storer declared today.

His statements came in a letter read at the meeting of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Asked how he would ease the property tax, Storer said that one approach might be an increase in the state income tax. This would be far more equitable than the property tax because it would be based on current income, said Storer.

Citing an actual case, Storer declared: "An elderly widow with an income of just over $200 per month pays 14 per cent of her income in real property taxes. The inequity is that people in the $3,000 per month income bracket pay the same ratio of real property tax as this lady.

"Another unpalatable by-produce of the system is that some of our ranchers and dairymen are about to be taxed out of business. This is intolerable."

Storer also said the supervisors had met night and day for a whole month to hear more than 900 tax protests.

"Certainly no one can blame a property owner for his protest. One fact that emerged from these hearings is that the real property tax has reached a point of no return."

The financial cost of the protest hearings is difficult to pinpoint, but Storer estimated $30,000 to be a conservative amount. Much of this cost would be in overtime to members of the assessor's staff and in the reproduction of maps and documents and in photography.

"The time has come for a concentrated effort by all local governing boards and taxpayers to achieve major tax reform in the state," Storer said.

"This can be accomplished! Our legislature and our governor are certainly responsive to strong public opinion. What needs to be done is to have that opinion expressed in no uncertain terms by demanding that a special session of the Legislature be called this fall to deal with this critical problem. The citizens of Marin County can be assured that this Board of Supervisors is already in the forefront of this fight."

Keep a gold fish in a bowl and it will not grow. Put it in a river and it may grow to four or five pounds. Why is not known.

Two Cyclists Hospitalized

Two motorcyclists have been hospitalized as a result of inability to negotiate turns in separate accidents on Marin County roads.

Willem G. Wolbertus, 20, on San Francisco, was thrown from his motorcycle shortly before noon yesterday on Highway 1, one-and-a-half miles north of Muir Beach. He was reported in fair condition today with a shoulder injury at Marin General Hospital.

Airman 3/C James E. Richardson of Hamilton Air Force Base was reported in good condition today at the base hospital, suffering from cuts and bruises of the arms and legs. He was injured when his machine skidded on a curve on the Point Reyes-Petaluma Road, two miles west of the Sonoma County line, at 2:45 p.m. Sunday.

Hospital Stays

CHICAGO (UPI)—The average hospital stay is only half as long today as it was 25 years ago due to better medicines, new equipment and improved treatment, reports the American Hospital Association. The average stay in 1935 was 14 days and today it is 7.7, the Association said.

Four Southern Marin Districts' Pay Listed

As a public service, the Independent-Journal today continues its listing of salaries of public districts, including here those of the Almonte, Corte Madera, Sausalito-Marin City and Tamalpais Valley sanitary districts.

Highest paid employee of the Almonte Sanitary District is Mrs. Mae Harvey, office secretary, who receives $1,080 yearly. Directors Robert A. Alexander, John R. Dawe, Albert R. Teather, Richard F. Field and David J. Beasley are paid $300 annually.

In the Corte Madera Sanitary District, the payroll consists of maintenance supt. John Comes, who receives $8,460; maintenance engineer William W. Newland, $7,620; maintenance man Ernest F. Zang, $6,420; secretary Mrs. Portia Fitzgerald, $6,000; and part-time stenographer-clerk Marian C. Peterson, $3,000.

Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District has three paid employees. They are Supt. William Dabner, paid $9,600 yearly; his first assistant, Raymond Morris, $6,180; and second assistant M. Nevelle Morris, $5,700.

Sole employee of the Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District is district inspector Leonard M. Mitchell, who is paid $7,020 yearly.

The Alto Sanitary District, which contracts with the city of Mill Valley for sewage treatment, has no paid employees.

Six Months Given In Auto Theft

Merton Wesley Spaulding, 20, was sentenced to six months in county jail and placed on a year's probation yesterday in Marin Superior Court on his earlier guilty plea to car theft.

The youth, who police said was absent without leave from the Navy at Treasure Island, took a car from Sydney J. Smith, 794 Storybook Court, Novato, on June 1.

A co-defendant, Daniel J. Ryan, 19, of 2379 Dominic Drive, Novato, still faces trial.

U.S. Industrial Production Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's industrial production rose sharply in July, and the Federal Reserve Board attributed it to a high volume of output of steel, business equipment and automobiles.

It was the ninth straight month for an increase in the output of the country's factories and mines. The board fixed the climb at eight-tenths of one per cent.

In other areas, the board said the manufacture of business equipment increased 4 per cent, construction activity remained high and retail sales increased.

The board said the amount of bank credit declined during the month but the money supply continued to increase.

The coast redwood is one of the most noteworthy trees in the world for its age, height, the density of timber on bottomland sites, the rot resistance of its wood, and for the majestic beauty of the virgin forest stands.

Bank Hikes Share Rate

Directors of United California Bank yesterday voted to increase the quarterly dividend from 45 to 50 cents per share and declared the regular dividend at the new rate payable Sept. 29 to stock of record Sept. 10.

According to Francis S. Baer, chairman of the board — San Francisco, United California Bank earnings have been trending upward for some time as the result of tightened cost controls and consistent asset growth. Baer said the directors believe current and projected earnings warrant an increase in the dividend rate at this time.

The last change in United California Bank's dividend rate occurred in September, 1963, when the rate was raised from 40 to 45 cents per share.

Monterey pine is also called insignis pine or remarkable pine in areas of mild climate around the world, because it is the fastest growing of the more than 90 pine species.

Fifth Straight Day For Higher Closing

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed higher today for the fifth straight day. Prices were near their best levels of the day at the close.

Volume for the day was estimated at 4.4 million shares, compared with 5.27 million yesterday.

Trading was moderately active.

The averages bobbed back and forth on this fifth straight day of advance.

Brokers said a factor in the continued gain was a report that industrial output in July increased sharply over June.

Aluminium, Ltd., which traded on a block of 96,700 shares, seemed headed for the top of the most active list. Control Data also was actively traded.

Fairchild Camera, strong Friday and hit by profit taking Monday, came back with a gain of about 4 points.

Steels were weak with U. S. Steel and Jones & Laughlin off half a point.

General Motors, with a slight gain, was the only one of the big three motors in the plus column.

Among the electronics, Zenith and Raytheon advanced a point or so.

Other gainers of around a point included International Nickel, Eastman Kodak, Union Carbide and Polaroid.

U.S. Smelting spurted almost 3 points.

Prices advanced in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed while Treasuries declined.

Muir Woods in Marin County, Armstrong Park and Bohemian Grove in Sonoma County, Memorial Park in San Mateo County, and Big Basin Park and Cowell Park in Santa Cruz County have notable virgin redwood stands.

Lucky Store Earnings Up

Lucky Stores' earnings for the second quarter ended Aug. 1 were 45 per cent above second quarter earnings in 1964, with a 17-per cent increase in sales.

Earnings totaled $1,618,000 and are equivalent to 69 cents per share of common stock outstanding at the end of the quarter, compared to 48 cents per share for the second quarter of 1964. Sales for the quarter were $88,-161,000, compared with $75,291,-000 last year.

Sales for the six-month period to date were $172,872,000, up 20 per cent over last year. Earnings were $2,828,000—an increase of 46 per cent over 1964.

Dan Coleman Picks Knoll Site; New Sprinkling Outlet Announced

First occupant of the knoll site on the south side of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Greenbrae—just west of Greenbrae Lanes—will be the civil engineering firm of Dan Coleman Associates.

Coleman, who not only does a great deal of work in Marin but has jobs in progress all over the country, finds this choice spot near the north-south, east-west crossroads a great deal more practical than San Francisco where offices are now maintained in the Jack Tar Hotel.

The firm has acquired almost a half-acre and Custom Builders has already begun construction on a two-story building of redwood, stone and glass, expandable from the present 4,000 square feet later.

It will feature two fireplaces, extensive decks out under the trees, and since the property runs down to Corte Madera Creek there will also be a boat dock. At that elevation it should also have an outstanding view of its surroundings. Completion is expected in December.

The Schultz interests have about 10 more acres on the knoll which will be sold for similar professional use.

RUDOLPH W. SAMSON of San Rafael has announced the formation of Samson Automated Garden Sprinkling System, specializing in installations on residential and business properties in Marin and throughout the Bay Area.

Headquarters are maintained at Samson's home at 44 Bret Harte Lane. Free estimates are given on both automatic and manually operated systems, designed for specific requirements of the property. Samson was formerly in the sound equipment business.

NEW EXECUTIVE MANAGER appointed by Draper Companies for the Peacock Gap Country Club is Frank La Horgue, who will supervise tennis and yacht clubs as well as the country club, golf course and restaurant.

Before joining Draper last March, La Horgue, 29, was a marketing executive with Eichler Homes, Inc. He is a graduate of Pomona College, with a master's degree in business administration from University of California.

R. C. RAGLAND of Mill Valley has been appointed treasurer-controller of Lynch Communication Systems, Inc. He was formerly controller and director of finance at Pacific & Semi-Conductors for a period of eight years. Previously he was a controller with Hughes Aircraft and Kobe, Inc.

Ragland

FRANK HAWKINS, who used to own Redwood Motors in San Rafael, has left the automobile trade for real estate sales and is now on the staff of Timmer Realty. He has been active in real estate developments in the past.

CONTRACTORS STATE LICENSE BOARD has announced it will issue a license to Sequoia Construction Co., Inc., 4280 Redwood Highway, San Rafael for general building. Officers of the concern are Jean N. Bell, at the same address, and Ralph C. Briggs Sr. and Jr.

HUBBARD NEWLIN of San Anselmo has been named outstanding regional agent of 1965 for American General Life Insurance Co. He is an associate in the Los Altos agency and has been with the company since 1963.

NORTH BAY ARTISTS, sponsored by the Novato Parks and Recreation Department, are now featuring monthly displays of their paintings throughout Novato. Present locations include the Novato General Hospital, Laurine's Beauty Salon, Novato Fair Coffee Shop and Wells Fargo Bank.

This week, artists starting to show their work are Linda Petersen, Verle Johnson, Betty Mobley, Lila Baugh, Virginia Helton, Ruth Collins, Julie Lee, Herta Rothschild, Lola Lane, Mrs. Katharine Johnson and Kharvina Johnson.

California Bank Assets Increase

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The 102 state-chartered banks in California had total assets of $11.9 billion on June 30, an increase of $938 million, or 8.5 per cent, over June 30, 1964.

John A. O'Kane, state superintendent of banks, said loans and discounts jumped 11.2 per cent to $7.1 billion. Real estate loans, totaling $2.4 billion, made up 34 per cent of the loans. Commercial and industrial loans totaled $2.3 billion and $1.4 billion, respectively.

The banks held $2.7 billion in securities, up 7.5 per cent. Holdings of U.S. government obligations dropped slightly but this was more than offset by a 25.4 per cent increase in holdings of state and local government bonds, O'Kane said.

Total deposits rose 6.2 per cent, from $9.8 billion to nearly $10.4 billion, with most of the increase accounted for by time and savings deposits. Capital accounts showed a rise of 23.8 per cent, from $845 million to $1 billion, the first time they have topped the $1 billion mark.

Seminar On Insurance Set

SAN FRANCISCO — Sixteen college professors will become students next week to learn about the latest developments in the property and casualty insurance business at a seminar in San Francisco being sponsored by the Insurance Information Institute.

This is the fourth annual seminar conducted by the instute and the first to be held in the western part of the country. The meetings begin Sunday and run through next Friday. All sessions will be at the Jack Tar Hotel.

Speakers will be insurance executives from San Francisco Los Angeles, Tucson, Baltimore and New York.

Following an eight-month study, the Inter-American Development Bank has recommended that Colombia and Venezuela combine efforts on their border to build roads, provide irrigation, improve farms, establish industries where possible and encourage some people to resettle.

Surprise! Spain Leads U.S. 2-0 In Davis Cup

By WILL GRIMSLEY

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — Spain took a surprising 2-0 lead over the United States in the Davis Cup interzone competition today when Manuel Santana, the No. 1 Spanish player, routed Frank Froehling III of Coral Gables, Fla., 6-1, 6-4, 6-4 after young Juan Gisbert had upset Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., in the opening match.

Gisbert, the baby of the Spanish team, won 3-6, 8-6, 6-1, 6-3 over the over eager and off-form Ralston, top-ranked U.S. player in a match that may have decided the whole series.

Spain is favored to win tomorrow's doubles match in which Santana and Luis Arilla, an experienced team, will play a makeshift U.S. combination of Ralston and Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio. The final singles matches are scheduled Thursday.

The winner of the European-American interzone still must play the Eastern Zone champion, India, but victory here virtually means a ticket to Australia to challenge the cup holders next December.

Santana, rated as good a player as any in the world on the soft clay courts here, never was threatened by the tall, power-hitting Froehling.

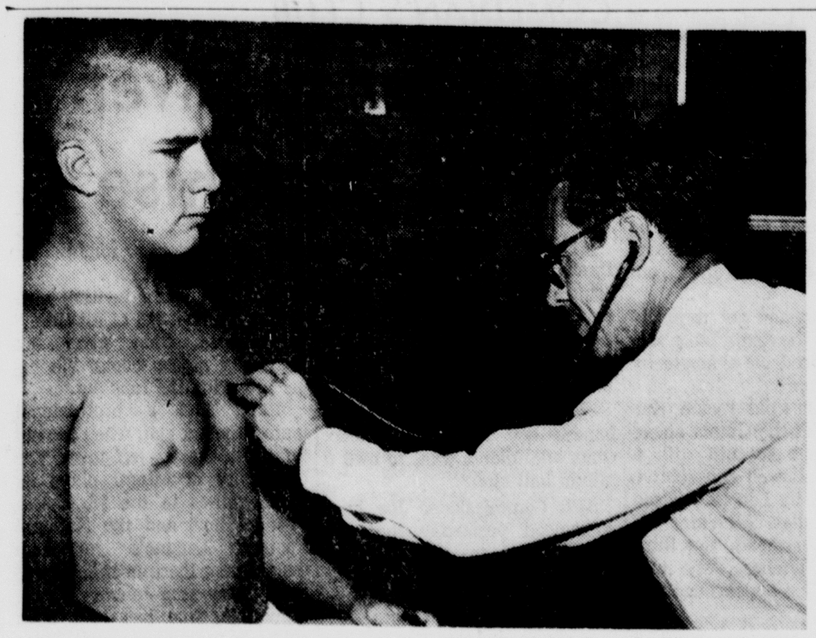

Ralston's game fell apart in the second set against Gisbert and the 23-year-old Spaniard merely had to keep the ball in play to win.

The 6-foot-4 Froehling, chosen because his game is better suited to the slow clay courts than that of Arthur Ashe, tried to blow Santana off the court with his power. But it didn't work.

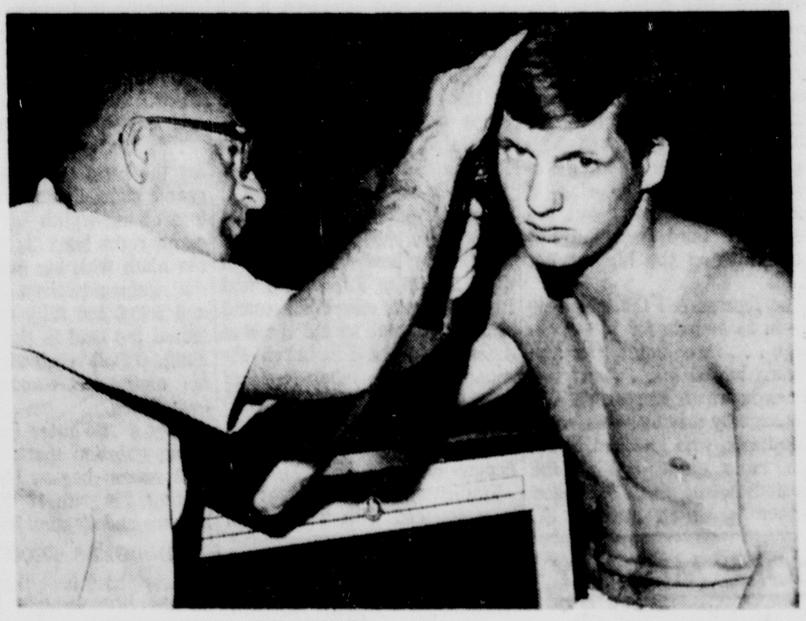

The cool Spaniard took charge at the outset and easily handled Froehling's cannonball drives, turning many of them into winners. The lanky Floridian had a couple of chances in the second set but couldn't pull them off.

The 23-year-old Gisbert took command after losing the first set and trailing 1-4 in the second. Ralston's volleying game collapsed in the middle of the second set and at one stage in the second and third sets he lost five straight service games.

A capacity crowd of 5,000 at Barcelona's Royal Tennis Club, cheering and whistling like bullfight fans, went wild at Gisbert's victory, which may be the one to send Spain into the challenge round against Australia.

NORTH-SOUTH MARIN GRID STARS GET MEDICAL ONCE-OVER

Members of the North and South Marin All-Star football squads reported to training camp Sunday and first order of business was physical examinations for the players. Here Dr. Roger Hedin gives the once-over to tackle Lee Jamison of Drake.

Dr. Arnold Nutting checks the ear of North halfback Tim Harr, graduate of San Rafael High. Players on the North and South are 1965 graduates of Marin County high schools.

Rick Edwards, Terra Linda High graduate, has his blood pressure checked by Dr. Hedin. The All-Star game, sponsored by Ross Valley Kiwanis Club, will be played Aug. 26, 8 p.m. at Kentfield.

JIM MURRAY

Recruiting For Marr's Militia

I would like today—just to show that sentiment is not dead—to tell you a misty story about an old-time golfing great.

In his day, there wasn't anybody who could touch him. He flew at a golf course like a Doberman attacking a burglar in a dark store. He smashed into a golf ball as if it were a tarantula. He hit balls off seaside rocks, out of hip-high rough. He won four Masters, one National Open. He averaged seven tournament victories a year. Even the ones he lost went right down to the 18th hole. He was on national TV more than Walter Cronkite. He had such personal magnetism, his following was dubbed "The Army" by the press.

You can talk of your Hogans, your Joneses, the Hagans or Sneads, but let me tell you, to us old-timers, Arnold Palmer was the king. You bought Arnold Palmer slacks, Arnold Palmer clubs, Arnold Palmer gloves. If he so much as brought out a book "How to Hit a Golf Ball Out of an Egg Cup," 200,000 people bought it. If anyone suggested Arnold Palmer wasn't the greatest thing in cleats, his fans would growl "Sir, that's a hanging lie!" or threatened to get him a new swing—hanging from a tree.

SOME PLACE between Augusta, Ga. and the Ed Sullivan show, Arnold Palmer lost it. Arnie turned out to be just another guy it was safe to press on the back nine. The only shot he can bring off nowadays is the one through the back seat of a hard-top sedan. You half expect any day he will pick up in the middle of a TV commercial.

They even moved the PGA tournament to Arnold's home course in the belief it would be like putting on the living room rug for him. And the man who won $619,000 in ten years on the tour won exactly $737—exactly the same as Manuel de la Torre who was not ordinarily within ten names of Palmer on a scoreboard.

THE ONLY time David Marr resembled Arnold Palmer on a golf course was when he had a putter in his hand. Where Arnold played a round of golf like a guy with a cutlass in his teeth, Davy played it as if it were heart surgery. He had a swing you could pour on pancakes, but he had to sneak up on a course. He picked its pocket, didn't clobber it between the eyes. He played par-5's, for par-5. The par-3's were where he made his money.

Davy was an acquired taste for the golf fan—like olives, or escargots or caviar. He wasn't flamboyant like Palmer, awesome like Nicklaus. His victory pace was a lot more leisurely—it averaged out to about one tournament every three years. He was as unruffled on or off the course as an English butler. He came up to the 18th hole in the Masters two years ago needing a birdie to tie for second money. Palmer was a dozen strokes ahead, could have won the tournament with a shovel. "Is there anything I can do to help?" he asked Dave. "Sure," said Davy, "take a 12."

HIS CLOTHING was as impeccable as his swing. The sports writers had a pool going at one tournament that if Davy had a scuff mark on his shoes or a wrinkle in his pants at the end of a hot round, the guy who first spotted it collected the money.

If you bought Davy Marr a drink, he bought you one. If you sat up at night with him, you didn't necessarily discuss golf. Viet Nam, New York politics, pro football, pro boxing, a discussion of the world's fine restaurants or the world's fine books was in order. Golf was a living to Dave Marr, not an obsession.

NOVATO LITTLE LEAGUE

A Solid Team Triumph

Independent-Journal Sports

Tues., Aug. 17, 1965 17

When manager Sheridan Moats and his Novato Little League All-Stars take off tomorrow for Portland, Ore., and the Western Regionals, the team's skipper won't be leaving behind his corn cob pipe.

"Getting that pipe was a bigger thrill for me than getting that championship trophy in Oroville," said Moats, referring to the top award won by the Novato team after winning the Northern California divisional title Saturday.

"The kids are giving me a bad time about smoking," said Moats. "They said pipes and cigars are all right, but no cigarettes. So the kids got together in Oroville and bought me a corn cob pipe, all on their own. Those kids are really something."

The 14 players on the team, Moats and coach Gene Ferretti will be boarding United Airlines Flight 334 tomorrow from San Francisco International Airport bound for Portland and the Western Regionals. For all you well-wishers who would like to send them off, the plane leaves San Francisco's airport at 1 p.m.

Novato will take on a team from Phoenix in the opening game of the tourney Thursday at 6:30 p.m. The tourney continues through Friday and Saturday. Winner of the regionals goes to Williamsport, Pa. next week for the Little League World Series.

Moats will use either Steve Tieche or Randy Foster as the starting pitcher Thursday, saving Stan Ericksen, ace of the staff, for the possible championship battle Saturday. Other members of the Novato team are Tom Nelson, outfielder-pitcher; John Kidder, second baseman; Dave Buckley, catcher-outfielder; Jeff De Recat, pitcher-first baseman; Jack Burnam, catcher; Clint Hubbard, outfielder; Mark Greving, third baseman; Dave Judnick, infielder-outfielder; Phil Adams, shortstop; Mark Swartz, first baseman-outfielder; and Rick Nelson, outfielder.

Moats feels his team has a good chance in the stiff competition of the regionals.

"We've been getting hits from all of our players, where most of the teams I've seen have only four or five strong hitters," said Moats. And his pitching staff has been great, Tieche pitching a two-hit shutout (1-0) in the first game of the divisional tourney last Friday in Oroville and then Ericksen following suit the next day for a 3-0 triumph over West Hayward in the finals on Saturday, also with a two-hitter.

That combination of good pitching and strong hitting has been good for 56 runs for Novato and only 11 for the opponents in the eight straight tournament victories for the Novato nine.

Moats emphasizes the success of his team has been on "solid team play," with all members of the squad contributing key hits.

When the Novato boys, manager Moats and coach Ferretti pack their gear for the game, it's a certainty the manager will have his new corn cob pipe handy. It's one of his most prized possessions.

BIG BOY—Dr. Nutting weighs in Bob Barnecut of Drake. The South team (Redwood, Drake, Tam and Marin Catholic grads) is training daily at Drake High. The North (Terra Linda, San Rafael, Novato and San Rafael Military) is working out at Terra Linda. (Independent-Journal photos)

Chris: Aw, It Wasn't So Bad

MORAGA (UPI)—As far as coach Jack Christiansen is concerned, his San Francisco 49ers' 37-21 loss to Cleveland Sunday was not as bad as it looked.

The coach made the comment yesterday after viewing films of the loss to the defending National Football League kingpins.

"For instance, the two touchdown passes that Jim Johnson got beat on were flukes," he said. He declined further comment but those two quick tallies threw the 49ers of their stride even though Johnson later lugged an interception back for a score.

Regarding the performance of George Mira, who went all the way at quarterback. Christiansen said "he did some good things and some bad things. It's always liable to happen in an opening game."

Starting quarterback John Brodie missed the game because of a back injury, but Christiansen said he probably will be ready to go Saturday night at Portland against Dallas.

Four if the Prospectors' assistant coaches are in Los Angeles to scout the Cowboys' game against the Rams, which may be held tonight at the Colisseum.

S.F. Bout Postponed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 10-round fight between middleweights Jimmy Lester and Dave Reed, scheduled tomorrow night has been postponed indefinitely.

The promoter said Reed injured his right hand yesterday in training.

MARIN DEER HUNTERS LAGGING BEHIND 1964

Marin County hunters killed 14 less deer in the first week of the 1965 deer season than they did for the corresponding period in 1964, the Department of Fish and Game reported yesterday.

Deer tags returned to the department for the period Aug. 7-13 showed 87 bucks were killed in Marin. Last year the number was 101 for the same period.

Archers killed six bucks this year, one more than they bagged last year, the department added.

Federal Boxing Bill Goes To The Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Round two of the bout over creation of a federal boxing commission, with power to bar broadcast of fights, will be fought in the Senate. Proponents won the House round yesterday by a 346-4 vote.

The House-passed bill would establish a three-man commission with authority over professional bouts to be broadcast in interstate commerce. If the commission considered a fight not to be in the public interest, it could forbid broadcast.

Chairman Oren Harris, D-Ark., of the House Commerce Committee, is the bill's sponsor. He said yesterday broadcasting industry spokesmen had wired congressmen expressing concern that a precedent would be set by granting the commission authority to ban in advance a broadcast, possibly violating freedom of speech.

The bill was pushed after heavyweight champion Cassius Clay knocked out challenger Sonny Liston in the first round of their title fight last May.

Olsen Stars In Softball Action

Marlin Olsen pitched and batted Brandon Tires to a 7-2 victory over Two Turtles of Sausalito last night in the San Rafael Recreation Department's B-1 Western Softball League at Albert Field. Olsen aided his own cause by collecting three singles.

In the second game, Capella's knocked off Marinwood Athletic Club 6-2 as Jim Flinn pitched the victory and, like Olsen, aided his own cause with two hits.

PHILADELPHIA — Stanley (Kitten) Hayward, 149¾, Philadelphia, outpointed Tito Marshall, 147, Panama, 10. Joe Frazier, 203, Philadelphia, stopped Woody Goss, 190, Lancaster, Pa., 1.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Freddie Little, 154¾, Chicago, outpointed Milo Calhoun, 162¾, New York, 10.

No Title For Mets This Year

The experts can relax. The New York Mets won't humiliate any of them by winning the National League Pennant this year.

There can't be any 10-team tie for first place, either, in case this has caused any sleeplessness. The Mets took care of that yesterday by losing 3-2 to the San Francisco Giants for their 82nd defeat of the season and sixth loss in a row to the Giants.

The best the Mets can do this season is 80-82. All they have to do is win every game from here on in starting today at Candlestick Park where Gaylord Perry (8-10) of the Giants was scheduled to pitch against Jack Fisher (7-15).

The Mets have improved from last year. They lost their 82nd game in 1964 after 117 contests. It took 118 in 1965.

Bob Shaw won his sixth straight yesterday with a four-hitter. Most of his trouble came from ex-teammate Chuck Hiller who touched Shaw for a double leading off the game and a bases-empty homer in the ninth for the Mets' final run.

There also was a heated debate between Hiller and plate umpire Tom Gorman in the third inning over whether Shaw was throwing the spitter. Hiller called for the ball five times and embellished his protest by refusing to step into the batter's box at one point and standing in front of the plate with his back to the mound at another.

"I have no idea what all that was about," said Shaw afterward with a practiced look of innocence that expanded into a

THREE NEW STARS ON MARIN GRID SQUADS

One gridder for the North and two for the South have been added to the rosters for the Marin County North-South All-Star football game on tap in Kentfield Aug. 26, it was announced yesterday by Bob Troppmann, general manager for the game.

For the South, Tom Gootherts of Redwood, a fullback-linebacker, has been named to replace end Terry Smith, also of Redwood. Smith has moved and won't be available for the game.

Changes for the North find San Rafael halfback Bob Ramsey replacing San Rafael end Gary Palmateer who has moved from Marin County and San Rafael back Dave Hammond replacing Fred Rodoni, a back from Tomales High. Rodoni suffered a broken hand before reporting to practice and was advised by his doctor not to play.

MILWAUKEE SURGE

One Man Riot By Braves' Mathews

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

Look no farther than Ed Mathews' nine-game .543 batting splurge to explain why the Milwaukee Braves have sliced the Los Angeles Dodgers' National League lead to a mere .002 percentage points.

The Braves have been flexing their muscles in all directions with eight victories in their last nine games but the 33-year-old third baseman has been swinging the biggest bat of all.

The figures tell the story: 19 hits in 35 at bats for a .543 average . . . three home runs and 17 runs batted in . . . and two games in which he took personal charge by driving in six runs.

Mathews, who knocked in six runs in a game against the Houston Astros Aug. 8, staged another "one-man riot" in St. Louis last night when his two singles, a double and 27th homer of the season drove in six tallies and produced a 10-8 victory over the Cardinals.

The victory gave the Braves a 67-49 season record compared to the 69-50 mark of the first-place Dodgers who suffered a 6-1 loss to the Philadelphia Phillies last night.

ROBERTS WINS

The third-place San Francisco Giants also chopped a game off the Dodger lead with a 3-2 win over the New York Mets and Robin Roberts scored his second straight shutout as the Houston Astros beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-0 in the other National League games. The Chicago White Sox nipped the Boston Red Sox 5-4 in the only American League game.

Mathews sent the Braves off to a 4-2 lead with a three-run homer in the third inning—No. 27 of this season and the 472nd of his career. Then, after the Cardinals tied the score at 4-4, he contributed a single to a four-run sixth inning that also included singles by Hank Aaron, Gene Oliver and Frank Bolling and a double by Joe Torre.

Tim McCarver tied the score for the Cardinals again with a grand slam homer in the bottom of the eighth but Mathews came right back in the top of the ninth with his fourth hit of the game-a-two-run single — and relief ace Billy O'Dell protected the lead in the St. Louis ninth. O'Dell received credit for his ninth win compared with four losses.

Only a .233-hitter in 1964 and a big question mark when the 1965 season began, Mathews is batting .259 with 17 doubles, 27 homers and 82 runs batted in.

DODGERS 'SHORT-ED'

Chris Short beat the Dodgers for the fifth straight time this season and for the seventh consecutive time since June, 1964, with a six-hitter. He had the Dodgers shut out until the ninth when Jim Lefebvre hit his ninth homer. Richie Allen singled home two runs when the Phillies drove out Johnny Podres with four runs in the third. The win raised Short's record to 14-8 and made Podres' 4-6.

Roberts spun a four-hitter, walking only two batters and retiring the last 13 in order. It was the 38-year-old right-hander's 44th shutout and 278th victory. A walk, singles by Joe Morgan and Jim Gentile and an infield out sent the Astros off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning. Bob Friend suffered his 10th setback against five wins.

the wife to be back in the club house or the motel or back up in the snow taking care of the kids and the bills, Suzie Marr was never more than a short putt away from "David," as she always called him. Eighteen holes of watching hubby spray a new washing machine into the deep rough, a new bedroom set into the water, can be harrowing; but Suzie never picked up.

A measure of the affection, for Dave Marr, even of the people whose money he is taking, could be seen on TV Sunday. When he holed out, Jack Nicklaus wrapped him in a bear hug. Billy Casper, who had swiped the Hartford Open out from under Davy when Marr snapped the ball out-of-bounds, looked as pleased as if Marr were going to split the take with him. In fact, Dave Marr's greatest victories on the tour to-date have come in elections. His fellow pros chose him tournament chairman because they trust not only his sense but his fairness. He worked harder for the game of golf generally than he did on HIS game of golf particularly —and it sometimes showed on the scoreboard.

HE IS the greatest long putter in the game. But he takes himself so unseriously that Suzie once confided she hoped Dave didn't get paired with Ben Hogan "because he admires Hogan so much he'll spend all his time watching Ben hit his shots and forget to hit his own."

You've got golfers on the tour who eat buffalo meat, guys who gave up smoking, guys who gave up drinking, guys who tried hypnotism, yoga, health foods and weight lifting. Davy Marr smokes, eats meat you don't have to send an Indian for, drinks, the only thing heavy he will lift is a book, and now he wins. The planet's, so to speak, Marr's. The recruiting office of Marr's Militia opens in the morning. The rate of exchange is two "Arnie's Army" buttons for one "Davy's Doers." And please pass the ham and the cigaret lighter.

RUN OF STRIPED BASS REPORTED AT STINSON

A run of striped bass, so thick that the fish were bumping into the legs of waders, was reported at Stinson Beach yesterday. And anyone with a fishing rod and lure was a cinch to get himself a limit.

One of the larger fish caught was a 27-pounder.

Wilt Would Rather Swish Than Fight

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain doesn't want to fight, and he's not going to switch.

The 7-foot-plus superstar of the Philadelphia 76ers said yesterday he's going to stay in pro basketball, rejecting a career as a heavyweight fighter.

"There wasn't any one reason why I decided not to pursue boxing," Chamberlain said. "I talked to many friends, then evaluated the situation, considered everyone involved and made my decision."

Chamberlain had threatened to leave the 76ers of the National Basketball Assn. and launch a campaign to gain a shot at the heavyweight boxing title.

He had been offered a boxing contract by Cus D'Amato, former manager of ex-heavyweight champ Floyd Patterson. D'Amato had said Wilt could earn a million dollars within three years. It is estimated Chamberlain gets about $50,000 from the 76ers.

"Three groups made me fabulous offers," Chamberlain said. "I still feel I could have made a good fighter. I am fast enough, agile enough and strong enough. The only thing I really don't know is whether or not I could take a punch."

Chamberlain said it took him four months to rule out a boxing career, because a news leak which "blew the boxing offer all out of proportion, put pressure on me and I don't like to make hasty decisions because of pressure."

The basketball star said he probably would sign his 76ers' contract at Kutsher's Country Club in New York's Catskill Mountains. He's there for a basketball benefit game for former NBA star Maurice Stokes.

"I'm not worried about a contract," he said, "I probably will sign one at Kutsher's if Ike (Richmond, 76ers co-owner) will give me a raise."

Chamberlain's decision to remain in basketball means he will again play for Coach Dolph Schayes, target of an uncomplimentary article that appeared under Wilt's name in a national sports magazine last season.

"Dolph will look at me as a player," Chamberlain said. "It's up to me as a man and a player to subordinate myself to Dolph and to do what he thinks will help the club."

"When I called him a soft coach (in the article), I meant it —then," said Chamberlain. "But I never said Schayes would never make a good coach."

smile. "All I know is that I felt better out there today than I have for the previous four games."

Shaw, who's been accused of throwing the illegal wet one more than 100 times this season, has three no-contest decisions included in his victory streak that dates back to July 7.

After Hiller's fruitless first-inning double, Shaw retired 17 straight Met batters before he lost his 1-0 lead produced in the fourth inning by Willie Mays' 33rd homer off Met starter Tom Parsons.

Joe Christopher got a pinch-hit single in the sixth, stole second and scored on a single by Roy McMillan.

But 19-year-old rookie Ken Henderson put the Giants ahead to stay in the seventh with a single that followed consecutive one-base hits by Len Gabrielson and Tom Haller. All came off loser Bob Moorhead, the third of five Met pitchers, who was making his first appearance this year.

Mays was suffering from a slight groin muscle pull and originally was out of the lineup. But Matty Alou came down with a cold before game time and Mays was pressed into service. Henderson would have played center for Mays, but ended in right field.

Mays scored in the eighth on Jim Hart's long sacrifice fly for 3-1 Giants. He had walked and moved to third on a single by Willie McCovey, the Giants' 10th and last hit.

COMEDIAN'S CLUB

Miami Is Given AFL Franchise

MIAMI (AP) — Comedian Danny Thomas, who plans to bring major league professional football to Miami, explained his $7.5 million investment with the American Football League this way:

"You can't show me any Lebanese boy raised in Toledo, Ohio, who didn't want to own a Miami ball club."

AFL Commissioner Joe Foss announced yesterday that the league had granted a group headed by Thomas a five-year franchise for a ninth league team to be based in Miami.

The team, thus far without a name, will play seven scheduled games in Miami's Orange Bowl beginning in 1966. Thomas has an option to renew for another five years.

Present AFL members are New York, Buffalo, Boston, Kansas City, Houston, San Diego, Denver and Oakland.

Thomas and Joseph Robbie, Minneapolis attorney who heled put the deal together and outbid other groups for the franchise, are owners but it was agreed they can take in other stockholders later.

Thomas, who flew here from Hollywood for a press conference last night, said his part in promoting the infant ball club would depend on his television filming schedule.

He said his organization had been concentrating so hard on winning the franchise that there had been no time to plan details of the operation.

"Miami is a great American city," said Thomas. "It should be treated as such. No city the size of Miami should be without a major league team."

Thomas said his corporate organization had not been completely made up as yet, and that other investors might be brought in.

"Not that we're inviting anyone to the bonanza of all time," he quipped, "but we're not trembling in our boots. We expect to bring the fans out."

Miami had a professional team 19 years ago, when the old Miami Seahawks left town. The University of Miami plays its home games in the 72,000-seat Orange Bowl and the National Football League's runner-up teams meet there in the Playoff Bowl game each January.

Thomas, who has long been active in promoting charities for St. Jude Children's Hospital in Memphis, Tenn., said he hoped eventually that an annual charity game would be held for that purpose. Thomas, of Lebanese extraction, has made numerous Miami appearances.

Foss said the player limit of 36 for AFL teams will be raised to 38 this season to give the incumbents a cushion when the Miami team is put together. Each of the present teams will protect 23 players on its roster.

Miami then can select two from the remaining roster, then one more player will be frozen and Miami will select two more from each squad.

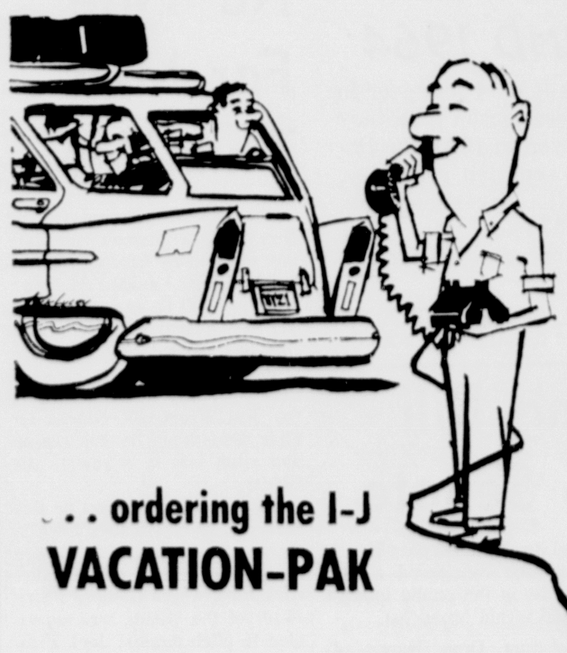

With 32 players then on its roster, Miami will get the AFL's two top college draft picks and first choice in each following round.

Meet Tomorrow

Ladies Auxiliary of the Marin Rod and Gun Club will hold its monthly dessert social tomorrow at the clubhouse, Point San Quentin, from noon to 4 p.m. A variety of card games will be featured. Proceeds of the card parties go to the conservation and scholarship committees.

Salmon, Stripers And Rockfish Bring Good News For Anglers

STEVENS

Is your larder well stocked with fish? If not, gather up your gear, draft a fishin' pal and head for the open water. Take your pick, salmon or bass. Flocks of either or both, or rockfish are waiting.

Salmon trolling out in the blue can't be called fast—not too many fish per boat or rod, but man, oh man! What fish! A 48-pounder was caught by Clint Landru (a 14-year-old angler) aboard the boat, "M.A."

Tony Caruso, who relayed the news, also mentioned another scorcher of 46 pounds caught by Tom Lawler aboard the Cappy Ricks. Both the above catches were made off Muir Beach.

Caruso reported two more 38-pound trophy salmon caught by O. E. Boyer of Mill Valley and Wade Adams off Duxury Reef.

THOSE REPORTS are enough to make the stay-at-home anglers grit their molars and resolve to make a reservation aboard one of the boats at Caruso's Sausalito Harbor. Now don't get me wrong. You may not get a single salmon—but you might hook play and land a real trophy lunker.

I ALSO LEARNED from Caruso that the rock-fishing boat, the Kihaku, hit the jackpot on Saturday with 12 limits of assorted rockfish and some nice ling cods to 32 pounds.

SO MUCH for salmon and rockfish prospects. Now for a quick look at the striper striving action. The South Tower bass fishing staged a spectacular comeback after two slow days last week. Sunday morning the word went out that a new run of large bass were populating the area.

OF PARTICULAR interest to the "regulars" is the red hot news of striper fishing above and below the Carquinez Bridge. Tony Dowrelio and Charley Schultz of Dowrelio's Crockett harbor passed along some great news of late evening trolling, to-wit: "Johnny Sivera netted 15 bass to 14 pounds last night," declared Tony. Schultz added that the sturgeon fishing has again become fast and fancy, and he, personally, took along a mess of grass shrimp to get himself a sturgeon. Instead he caught three striped bass on the shrimp, all big ones.

HERE IS an item of news that will set the red blood running wild in the veins of the elite group of plug-casters who get their sport from casting out Creek Club 703s or Pet Spoons with porkrind tail baits. Suetta Lagone, the little lady who tends the Dillon Point spot, waxed eloquent in describing the action: "It's been sizzling the last few days, plug-casters are limiting with beautiful fish from around 4 pounds to 20 pounds, Ralph. Oddly, they get 'em on both the morning and evening tides. On Saturday night seven casters had limits and the others had two or one fish each. Young Jack Bradley, of Vallejo could only fish around noon. He came at 1:25 p.m. and went after a short time with three eight pounders."

Asked about bait fishing, Suetta LaGrone reported quite a few being caught to 10 pounds, but the main action has been with plug casting from shore. To get to Dillon's Point turn off Highway 40 toward Benicia, drive two miles and turn right on road past City Dump. Open and close gate and drive a mile to the Stone House.

To get to Dowrelio's Harbor for the evening trolling, make it to Crockett by 4:45. Boats leave at 5 p.m.

S. R. And Novato Win Titles At Hamilton

Novato tipped Sausalito 4-3 to win the Minor League crown and Sausalito whipped San Rafael National 6-1 to take the Major League title Saturday in the final games of the Hamilton-Loma Verde Little League tournament played at Hamilton Air Force Base.

In the minor division, Joe Stamps led the Novato attack with a solo homer and George Lowe chipped in with a double. Randy Colfer was the winning pitcher and William Clay was the loser.

In Sausalito's major division triumph over San Rafael National, Laurence Dora had a home run and John Young had a double. Mark Gartman hit a double for S. R. National. Winning pitcher was Landy Scott and losing pitcher was Dan Jordan.

Final Game In Hub Softball Event Tomorrow

Burbank Dairy of Santa Rosa (3-1) and Sohner Tree Service of San Anselmo (2-2) tangle tomorrow evening at 6:30 in the final game of the sixth annual San Anselmo Invitational Softball Tournament.

A Burbank victory would give the Dairymen a tie for the championship with Hamilton Air Force Base and Lucky 7 Golf. Hamilton and Lucky 7 completed tourney play Sunday with 4-1 records.

Tomorrow night's contest will pit two teams that recently have played in the State Finals. Burbank represented Marin, Sonoma and Mendocino counties in 1963 and 1964 while this season Sohner became the first Marin team in 17 years to compete in the final.

Either Morey or Gary Swarm is expected to hurl for Sohner tomorrow while Burbank will counter with ace righthander Al Nott.

Boccabella Hikes Pro Average

John Boccabella of San Anselmo, the first baseman playing with the Fort Worth Cubs of the Texas League, is showing signs of snapping out of his slump which has seen him batting far below his potential this season.

He didn't hit for power in the last reported week from Player Periscope of Novato, but he banged 9 singles in 28 at bats for a week's mark of .321. That lifted his still anemic average six points to .233. He got only three runs batted in for the week to move his total to 76. He has smacked 16 homers so far this season.

Steve Miller, another San Anselmo young man who is trying his luck in pro ball, had a rough week, losing two games while only pitching six innings.

3-9 RECORD

The righthander witch Cocoa of the Florida State Rookie League now has a win-loss record of 3-9 after appearing in 17 games for 96 innings. He has whiffed 79 batters and has walked 82. His earned run average is 3.28.

Ron Cole of Mill Valley, righthander with Durham, N. C., of the Carolina League, only pitched two innings of one game and came away without a decision. He has a 5-1 record and an ERA of 2.84.

In the 38 innings he has pitched this season, he has fanned 28 and has walked 18.

Marin Drivers First, Second

Marin County drivers went one-two in the semi-main event Saturday night at the Petaluma hardtop races. John Grbac of Tiburon won the race with Bob Filippi of Mill Valley second.

Filippi won the third heat race and came in second in the trophy dash for a good night's work. Bob Buell of San Rafael was third in his heat race.

The night's races were marred by four crashes, but apparently no one was injured. Jack Sanfilipo of Novato and Pat Stocking of Kentfield were the first to flip. Sanfilipo's car flipped two and one-half times, crashed through a fence and came to rest beside a power pole.

INTRODUCING THE MARIN ALL-STARS

Introducing members of the North-South Marin All-Star football squads that clash Thursday night, Aug. 26, at Kentfield in a game sponsored by the Ross Valley Kiwanis Club:

THE NORTH

WARREN LAUFER is a defensive halfback from Novato High School won stands 5-9 and heighs 155 pounds.

Prior to his year of varsity ball, Laufer played defensive half and wingback and some quarterback on offense for Novato's junior varsity team. During his first two years at Novato and part of his junior year he also played baseball for the Hornets.

He hopes to get into the plumbing trade but if that attempt fails he will probably enroll at College of Marin.

DOUG BARKER from Terra Linda High School was voted the team's outstanding lineman last year and was named to the All-MCAL offensive team as a tackle.

He stands 6-2 and weighs 225 pounds, also played baseball and was on the school's wrestling team. Other activities for him include Hi-Y and YMCA, and also Pony League baseball work.

Barker will be attending the University of California at Santa Barbara when school resumes in September.

THE SOUTH

LEE JAMISON of Drake was the best lineman in Marin County. He was named to the All-MCAL team on both offense and defense last year, the only player to be named both ways.

The 6-foot, 235-pound tackle was named All-North Coast and then All - Northern California after the 1964 season. It was his third year as varsity first string for the Pirates. He was also nominated for the Shrine North-South football game but wasn't selected.

Lee was also quite a track and field star at Drake, and now holds the discus record for the school. He was student body treasurer and during basketball season was a cheer leader. He is also a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

He will be playing his frosh ball next year for Oregon State University.

TOM GOOTHERTS, a two-year varsity man for Redwood, replaced teammate Terry Smith who will not be available for the all-star game.

Gootherts was a fullback on offense and linebacker on defense for the Giants last year. The 5-11, 171-pound gridder also starred in baseball for Redwood playing two years varsity, and was elected team co-captain last season.

He got his football start playing Pop Warner football for the Junior Giants and won the Scholastic All-American award during his Warner grid days. He plans to attend Cal Western College at San Diego.

Earl Brown Repeats As M.V. Champ

Earl Brown won his second straight Mill Valley Golf Club championship Sunday by defeating Newt Page 5 and 4 in their scheduled 36-hole finals at the Mill Valley municipal links.

The Directors Flight title went to Jim Brown, a club junior, who edged out Bill Hogan, 3 and 1. This was the first year juniors were eligible to compete. Jim Brown also was medalist with a 63 qualifying round.

Jim Louw won the First Flight, downing another junior, Bob Paterson, 4 and 3; Tom Keigwin beat Frank Evansco, 7 and 5, for the Second Flight crown, and John Meenan ousted Ernie Brymer 3 and 2 for the Third Flight championship.

Testimonial For San Rafael Man

Frank E. Woods of San Rafael, recently elected president of the United States Soccer Football Assn., will be honored tomorrow night at a testimonial dinner at the Verdi Club in San Francisco.

The testimonial dinner is being sponsored by the California Soccer Football Assn. and the San Francisco Soccer Football League.

The stag affair will get started at 7:30.

Longden Wins No. 6,000; Admits He Might Retire

VANCOUVER (AP) — It took 38 years, 31,965 mounts and assorted broken bones for jockey Johnny Longden to become the first man in horse racing history to ride 6,000 winners.

The 58-year-old Longden coaxed Prince Scorpion to a three-quarter length victory in the sixth race at Exhibition Park last night for victory No. 6,000.

Prince Scorpion was Longden's third mount of the night.

Longden, born in England and raised in Canada, where he began racing in 1927, came to Vancouver last week looking for the four victories that would give him 6,000.

By the end of the week he had picked up three on 11 mounts.

He started last night aboard Star Pal int he second, but finished out of the money. In the fifth, Longden's Big Clint appeared to be a winner until he ran out of steam going into the stretch.

Longden made his 6,000th victory a brilliant ride, making up five lengths on front-runner Monday's Image in the stretch and nipping Charlie Mac at the wire.

The crowd of 9,529 cheered wildly as Longden and Prince Scorpion were led into the infield instead of the winner's circle.

Longden's wife Hazel, who came from their ranch home in Riverside, Calif., with their daughter of two sons, planted a kiss on the jockey's lips.

The millionaire jockey, who earlier talked of retirement when he reached the 6,000 mark, said after the race he was still "thinking" about it.

"I didn't say I was going to retire. I said I was going to think about it and I am still going to think about it."

He said he may ride here again Thursday before heading for Chicago, where he is to ride Jalousie in a $50,000 filly race Saturday.

Since winning his first horse race in Salt Lake City in 1927, Longden has had his share of spills.

He said he has broken both arms, both collar bones, both legs, both feet, his back and all of his ribs.

But he has won more than $24 million in purses for thoroughbred owners.

Longden has ridden many stake winners, but perhaps the best known is Count Fleet, with whom Longden swept the Triple Crown of the Kentucky Derby-Preakness - Belmont Stakes in 1943.

Willie Shoemaker, who started riding 22 years aftere Longden, is Johnny's nearest rival for most victories. The Shoe has passed the 5,100 mark.

World Of Fantasy In Her Home

THE GOLD MINER is one of the many dolls that are the creation of artist Mrs. David Lindsey of Novato. This particular doll was made for the Nevada Centennial last year for the Stockman's Hotel in Elko. The bodies of the dolls are made of baling wire. The heads are sprayed with mannequin paint, eyes are made of black felt and painted. The hands are made of natural-colored felt, and this one, of course, has a beard of cotton. Because of the painted faces, each one of the dolls has its own character.

By DOROTHY NEWELL

It's Christmas in August in the David Lindsey home in Novato. Just ask the neighborhood youngsters.

Mrs. David Lindsey, who has a way with children, makes articles for window displays in a special room in her home. And at the present time the room looks like a Christmas window with horses of gold, trimmed in bangles, beads and red felt and dolls and elves made of wire and styrofoam.

SEVERAL OF the neighborhood youngsters are artistically inclined says Mrs. Lindsey and help her in her art work, making spending money during the summer months and getting a special bonus at times with a dinner or swimming at the Rancho Olompali Club. The Lindseys have no children, "but," one of the girls volunteered, "she should be made mother of the year for the time she spends with the neighborhood youngsters, who make this (the Lindsey home) their second home."

Mrs. Lindsey, a native San Franciscan, attended University of Oregon in Eugene where she took courses in the fine arts. She worked with the Stanford Convalescent Junior Auxiliary in San Francisco and also helped with art work in the Country Club Guild for Sunny Hills as a hobby.

AT THIS TIME she began to buy different art supplies at Sylvan and Cohen Displays in San Francisco, who now give her most of her orders.

Her first professional job began when a friend, Mrs. Joseph Arons of San Rafael requested that she make some elves for the window of her brother's shoe store in Stonestown.

"It took me three weeks to make the first elf and it was just awful. However, I was paid more for the first job of 10 elves that took me four months to make than any job I have had since," Mrs. Lindsey laughingly said.

By way of comparison, with the help of her neighborhood youngsters, as they work in an assembly line technique, 100 elves can be completed in five days.

BEFORE THE PRESENT Christmas order is completed, they will have made about a carload of the golden horses for window display for some of the large department stores in the area.

Another of her accounts was the city of San Anselmo. Red plastic elves which were displayed at Christmastime on lamp posts for three years were the work of Mrs. Lindsey.

Last year for the Nevada State Centennial, Mrs. Lindsey designed and made 100 bearded goldminer dolls which were sold at the Stockman's Hotel in Elko.

The artistic Mrs. Lindsey is married to the owner of "Women's World" and "Guys and Dolls," small give-away magazines, with offices in San Francisco.

CHRISTMAS IN AUGUST is the feeling as one walks into the room where Mrs. David Lindsey and her helpers are busy making golden horses decorated with red saddles and gold beads and festive feathers on their heads. The horses, ordered by the Sylvan and Cohen Displays in San Francisco, will be used for window displays during the holidays. These are among just a few of the carload that they will be making. Shown are, from left, Holly Reynolds, 13, Cecy Harrigan, 17 and Lynn Canlett, 13, all neighborhood girls "who have a natural artistic talent," Mrs. Lindsey says.

Tapa Cloth And Torchlight For Belvedere Festivities

By MOLLY MARIN

Torches, tapa cloth and tropical flowers will create a South Seas atmosphere at the dancing party which Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Pflueger and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Sinclair are giving for their debutante daughters, Carol Sinclair and Kristin Pflueger Friday.

Orchid leis will be flown in from Hawaii for the girls who will be guests at the dance. All of the Marin debutantes and their escorts have been invited as well as other young friends of Kristin and Carol. The accent is on youth with the Turtles scheduled to play the lively music popular with the members of the deb set.

Sharing the evening are Kris' aunts and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. James Crittenden and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Blake Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Leon A. Julian of Marin Country Club Estates, former Belvedere residents, will attend the party, and Mr. and Mrs. Smokey Killen are coming from Sacramento for the occasion.

WHITE FLOWERS decorating the float and little sailboat docked at the Wayne Binghams Windward Road home on the Belvedere Lagoon were the gifts of neighbors on the occasion of the wedding of Milene Lupien to Douglas Meyer Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Miles Lupien of Saudi Arabia have leased the Bengham home until November. Milene married the son of the Wesley Meyerses of San Anselmo at nuptials at St. Anselm's Church. The reception was held in Belvedere.

Mr. and Mrs. Lupien will return to Saudi Arabia in the late fall, where Mr. Lupien is an executive with the Arabian Oil Co. The family has lived in Saudi Arabia for over 20 years. Their ties with Marin are so strong, however, that they have purchased a home in Strawberry Manor and expect to make it their permanent home after Mr. Lupien's retirement in two years.

KENT WOODLANDS residents Mr. and Mrs. David C. Dorward have returned from a three weeks vacation in the Canadian Rockies. They flew to Vancouver and from there traveled by train to Jasper Park, Alberta. They investigated the beautiful territory on pack trips and Mr. Dorward snagged a two-and-one-half pound trout on a fishing excursion.

IT WAS TWO GOLDEN anniversaries in one year for Herbert N. Witt of Belvedere. Mr. and Mrs. Witt traveled east to participate in the reunion of the class of 1915 at Harvard University which was Mr. Witt's graduating class. They visited members of the Witt family in the Boston area, and returned to California just in time to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Aug. 7, with a party at the home of their daughter, Mrs. John J. Wiley. Mrs. Wiley were cohosts at the celebration for family members and close friends at their lagoon home, with the Witt's other daughter, Mrs. Gordon L. Taylor of Modesto. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and their children Philip, Thomas and Teresa and Mrs. Wiley's daughters, Laurie and Paige, joined in the festivities.

Friends who stood up with the couple at ceremonies in Carson City, Nevada on Aug. 7, 1915, attended the anniversary fete. They are Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, Mrs.

Kaufman's is having a show of Ruth Chatfield paintings

They're miniatures and they're marvelous! San Francisco artist Ruth Chatfield's exquisite representational paintings of wild flowers, Victorian architecture, Oriental motifs, and goodness knows what all, are done in casein on treated plywood, believe it or not. Then, each gem-like work of art (never more than 10" wide) is set in a frame befitting a jewel.

The mats are velvet, the frames gold or silver leaf, polished walnut, or whatever is exactly right for the painting.
These little beauties are the work of an extraordinary young woman who left New York to play violin in the Louisville (Ky.) Symphony (evenings) and be art director of an advertising agency (daytimes). Now, in San Francisco, she's a full-time painter, one of the few who actually paints for a living. (Homey note: now that violin playing is an avocation, she plays for the joy of it—with the Marin Symphony.) Miss Chatfield is represented in over 65 private collections, among them, Victor (Trader Vic) Bergeron's. Her paintings have been exhibited in San Francisco, Sacramento, Chicago and Marin galleries and are, not infrequently, bought off the walls by enthusiastic collectors before other gallery goers have had a chance to see them. We urge you, therefore, to see the Chatfield show at your earliest. Not, mind you, that we expect a mob to batter down the doors. Perish forbid! Ruth Chatfield's paintings are for seeing singly and serenely. The longer the look, the deeper the pleasure. So bring a few friends and spend the day—any day expect Sunday.
Look long and longingly; and if there's one you can't live without, charge it to your Kaufman account.

ODILE SOURNIES, right, a French student who will be a guest in the San Rafael home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Phelps, gets acquainted with Mrs. Phelps and her daughter, Doreen, upon her recent arrival in this country. French Girl Shown American Teen Life

Odile Sournies, a petite 18 year old brunette from France, arrived recently to spend a year as a student in this country. She is living in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Phelps and their daughter Doreen, in San Rafael. Odile will be a senior at San Rafael High School this fall.

Through months of working and planning, the Methodist Youth Fellowship of The First Methodist Church in San Rafael has accomplished its goal to raise funds to bring a foreign student to this country through the International Christian Youth Exchange program. The members worked on projects such as spaghetti dinner for church families, a candy bar at the Christmas bazaar, and hiring themselves out as "slave labor," housecleaning, dishwashing, car washing, sewing and donating their earnings, to make this possible.

MISS SOURNIES, whose father is a judge, radiates enthusiam for the ICYE program. Her older sister spent a year as a student in Nebraska which inspired Odile to come to America. She speaks English fluently and has already been initiated into American teen-age life by attending a four day outing with a Senior Girl Scout Troop at Pinecrest. Among the souvenirs she brought home is a giant Tahoe pine cone.

At the end of the year's study Odile will return to France to attend the University of Paris. She likes swimming, riding, skiing, television, rock 'n roll music and peanut butter. She dislikes gelatin salads and French bread, toast and dressing are not French at all in the manner she is accustomed to eating them.

THROUGH THE efforts of the International Christian Youth Exchange 250 students came to this country to study for one year. The purpose of the ICYE is for teen-agers between 16 and 19 to know and experience the customs and ways of life of a family, a school and community and the church in another country to promote understanding. Gordon Black is chairman of the sponsoring committee of the ICYE for the First Methodist Church in San Rafael.

Zip Front Popular Fall Coat Shape

The zip-front parka in two lengths, over-the-hip or fingertip, features a bucket hood, three patch pockets. It's going back to school, says the National Association of Men's Sportswear Buyers. The coat shape started last year as a Japanese raincoat which the teen-age crowd snapped up in short order. For fall, they'll come in solid or plaid wool, and in corduroy.

No Planned Look

Americans intrinsically distrust a too-well-dressed man, says Ron Postal of the National Council of Men's Fashions in Beverly Hills. He said this is the reason many a politician and public figure displays the "just happened" clothes image rather than the planned look.

Los Angeles Violence Hurts Negroes' Cause

Death and destruction wrought by the riots in Los Angeles are made even more tragic by the senselessness of it all.

We have been scanning the reports from the riot-torn area, picking through eyewitness accounts and interviews for some motive underlying the sudden explosion.

But the closest thing to an explanation we can see is that it was a "reaction against authority" or that Negroes living in "ghettos" were seized by "hopelessness and despair."

These are mighty lame excuses for all the wanton killing and pillaging that swept South Los Angeles.

To condone such acts would be to grant complete license to anyone who feels frustrated, disadvantaged, or "hopelessly" handicapped—license to riddle the neighborhood with bullets, overturn the first car and beat up the occupant because he happens to be of another race, and set fire to the neighborhood shopping center.

Rebels, especially those without a cause, who resort to violence, invariably cause suffering to the innocent. This was the case in Los Angeles. Enraged mobs stoned and beat up many innocent persons who had the misfortune to wander into the scene of violence at the wrong time.

The uprising in Los Angeles is a black mark for the entire state and especially for the Negro, who in other sections of the country have gained considerable sympathy for their tenacious but peaceful demonstrations for civil rights.

It is a bit ironic that the state's worst racial strife should follow so closely on the heels of the greatest advances made in the history of this nation in the field of civil rights — the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Voting Rights Act just signed into law.

It is reported that some of the older and more level heads among the Negro population tried to halt the senseless beatings and destruction but were helpless.

We trust that the rioters in Los Angeles, and any would-be rioters elsewhere will carefully weigh the words of the President:

"To resort to terror and violence . . . strikes from the hand of the Negro the very weapons with which he is achieving his own emancipation. Those who strike at the fabric of ordered liberty also erode the foundation on which the house of justice stands."

Actions such as the riots in Los Angeles can offset years of laborious work done in the field of human rights.

Lots Of Linnets

Marin has lots of linnets, as the rosy-headed house finch is called. They are one of our most common birds and the species is native of this area.

Linnets are friendly birds. Mostly seed-eaters, they also consume a few bugs. Some people do not like them because linnets are careless housekeepers. They rival the English sparrow in this respect.

But we say hurray for the petite, pert, flourishing linnet.

ONE WAY TO BE KIND TO ANIMALS

Build a better animal trap and you may find yourself $10,000 richer!

This is the reward offered by the American Humane Association for anyone who will devise a method to catch fur-bearing animals and put them out of their misery painlessly.

The association offers a $5,000 reward to anyone who invents a small animal trap and a similar sum to the inventor of a large animal trap.

Present leg-hold devices cause a slow agonizing death by starvation, or by freezing during winter.

In addition, one of the professors in the association will add $10,000 of his own if either trap is invented during his lifetime.

Reasonable concern for the welfare of God's creatures is one distinguishing mark of man's humanity.

Where he often fails is in his treatment of his fellow man. This requires a divinely inspired motivation of love. Strive to look on everyone as a brother—and act like one!

"He who loves his neighbor has fulfilled the Law." (Romans 13:8)

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Federal Takeover Of Welfare Will Still Cost Taxpayers

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The question raised by Paul Ward, state administrator of the health and welfare agency, as to whether the federal government should take over county welfare costs marks a menace to the California taxpayer.

ORIGINAL CONCEPTIONS of welfare, before the process evolved into the give-away program of ultra-liberal government, were that the people of a community took care of their own. When the community burden grew too large, the offices of the state were called in, and the Legislature started appropriation of general fund money for welfare purposes.

Now, with the tax burden growing greater on the local welfare level at the present time. What control is exercised is through the board of supervisors, which must comply with the rules and regulations of the State Board of Social Welfare.

Removal of supervisorial control conceivably would result in removal of any control over the operation that now comes from the state, and turn the entire program over to a vast bureaucracy of federal government employees, whose major aim in the program would not be the welfare of the recipients, but how many votes can they get for the administration.

Probably the headaches of the welfare program if relieved by a federal takeover would be disorders the state's supervisors would like to dispose of to some other agency. On the other hand, local government has responsibilities to its citizens, and one of these is seeing insofar as possible that the use of public money is not abused.

IT WOULD BE EASY for the citizenry to say "take over" to the federal government, and highly pleasant to rid local communities of the responsibility. But, the small question of who pays the bill intervenes at this point, and it readily can be seen the same citizens would be paying the bill only through different channels of government.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Retarded Children Gifts Appreciated

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I wish to thank all my friends for helping me to raise money for MARC (Marin Aid to Retarded Children). The amount of which will go towards a building fund.

It has been fun and brought me much happiness. My wish is that soon with the money that we already have and also hope to raise that we will have a building in San Rafael that will enable the teachable retarded to feel needed and to find a place in the world.

Lightning Victim's Parents Grateful

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As the parents of Jay Lehmann, who was struck by lightning at the Boy Scout camp in the high Sierras, we wish to express our appreciation for the manner in which your paper carried the stories. Jay's clothing was torn in shreds and his shoes destroyed by the jolt which went through his entire body.

Although we do not know what the final outcome will be, Jay is recovering rapidly, but must remain in the hospital for a few more days before he can be moved. For the past three days he was literally wrapped in a blanket of ice and unable to receive normal nourishment. He is in considerable pain, but his spirits are high and cheerful.

We also wish to commend and thank the many people who have done so much to render first aid, give treatment and make his accident less serious than it could have been. The entire staff of Camp Marin-Sierra, especially Don Wilson, the camp director, and Paul Thompson, the acting scoutmaster, as well as the entire personnel of Troop 57 are to be highly complimented on their quick action and efficient handling of the situation.

The Miner's Hospital of Nevada City and Dr. B. W. Hummelt, who attended Jay, are absolutely wonderful. . . .

The camp chaplain, Rev. Eugene Royal, has been a source of strength to us all. . . . We feel that God has truly blessed Jay and his parents.

Should Not Delay Bonds

Editor, Independent-Journal:

By an interesting coincidence, on the same Monday evening that the Sausalito school board heard a well-publicized report advocating elimination of its neighborhood schools, an unheralded attempt was made to abolish the neighborhood school system in Mill Valley.

Before a small audience which contained no members of the press, Mill Valley school board chairman Joyce Gross called for a re-examination of the neighborhood school policy, and strongly advocated consideration of the revolutionary new "educational park" plan, under which all children in a community would be bussed to one large, centrally located cluster of schools.

The agenda at this point indicated passage of resolutions to call a bond election on Nov. 16 for a 3½ million dollar building program involving additions to Mill Valley's present school system. Due to an oversight in posting the required legal notice, it was impossible for the board to vote on these resolutions, which must now be passed at a later August meeting.

The educational park concept had been briefly considered by the architectural planning committee during its long months of study, but discarded in view of the expense of building a whole new school system for Mill Valley.

Any delay in presenting the bond issue this fall will result in Mill Valley's waiting three years instead of two for needed classrooms. I am confident the board of trustees will vote to proceed with the present building plans, on which they and the consulting architects have bestowed so much time and thought over the last six months.

Strawberry Area Recreation Needs

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Some items discussed at the Strawberry Recreational District, Board of Directors' meeting, Aug. 4, 1965.

Many plans have evidently been made for the development and utilization of the channels and water frontage that has been or soon will be acquired jointly, by the Strawberry District. With the indicated good planning for yachting, the future promises much fun for boat owners, which is, as it should be. However, for those not in the boat owner category, which I believe includes the majority of Strawberry District home owners, must rely on the use of our recreational area for athletics and leisure time activities. At this meeting the directors again informed us that the youngest and their mothers could or should use the sand box and jungle gym at the Strawberry Elementary School and others would be permitted to use the recreation field for badminton, volley ball and other sports, providing their own posts, nets and all other necessities for the different games. Furthermore, to get any consideration for establishing all or any of the activities suggested, we were told that it would require a majority of the 500 (the directors claim) makes up the Strawberry District. The activities suggested would involve less than 25 per cent of the District recreational areas. With the activation, as opportune, of all or any of the suggested activities, there is something available for everyone, especially action for the teen-agers, who are free and do not play or are waiting their turn to play tennis and not eligible for organized baseball.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Ghostly Speechwriter Ponders Whether To Leave White House

(Roscoe Drummond is on a brief vacation. His column is being written by members of the staff of the New York Herald Tribune.)

By DOUGLAS KIKER

WASHINGTON — Special Presidential Assistant Richard Goodwin is on vacation at Martha's Vineyard, Mass., trying to decide if he wants to drop the nom de plume of Lyndon B. Johnson and start writing, at last, under his own name.

AT THE MOMENT he still is undecided, and his friends say it is 50-50 as to whether he will remain at the White House as the President's chief speechwriter and one of his major idea men or resign in the early fall. He has set Sept. 15 as a deadline for making a decision.

President Johnson has made it abundantly clear to Mr. Goodwin that he wants to keep him, but is keeping quiet while he makes his mind up.

The dogdays choice Mr. Goodwin faces is a classic one in Washington: whether, as a young man of brilliance and ability, to remain in a semi-anonymous White House role and thus retain its enormous power or to stop being somebody else's guy and strike out in quest of independent reputation. The White House is not an easy place to walk away from.

If he does leave, it will be without hard feelings on either side, for Lyndon Johnson rescued Richard Goodwin from obscure exile in the Kennedy administration and Mr. Goodwin, in turn, has served the President faithfully and well. One thing is certain, in any event — there will be no memoirs.

Mr. Goodwin was brought to the White House by Bill Moyers in those early days when the Johnson staff tried to maintain the fiction that the President personally wrote every word he uttered.

HE HID OUT for a while in the Executive Office Building and wrote speeches—just as he had written speeches for John Kennedy and Sargent Shriver in earlier days. But he and Mr. Moyers found they worked well together, and gradually they evolved into a part time team.

Gradually Mr. Goodwin started making policy as well as writing about it. He has been especially active in civil rights and housing. He also has served as a diplomatic envoy from the Administration to the intellectual community. (Under his sponsorship, such people as Commentary magazine editor Norman Podhoretz and novelist William Styron have been brought to town for quiet, enlightening, backstairs White House visits).

HIS DEPARTURE would create a big vacancy, for there is no one else around who writes as well under pressure as he. But simultaneously it would also serve to dramatize the fact that the White House staff slowly is growing stronger, as more and more bright young men like Harry McPherson from the State Department and Joseph Califano from the Defense Department are added to it. Mr. Goodwin will be sorely missed, but he is not indispensable.

The President now is being served by the best staff he has ever had around him. It remains, since the departure of Walter Jenkins, a staff without a chief. There is no one who leads and unifies its effort to serve the President, and at this point no one appears destined to assume that role.

If Mr. Goodwin leaves, Mr. Johnson will need someone new to enunciate his policies and goals for him. But the total Johnson White House staff still is stronger now than ever before, and even without a leader its efficiency can be expected to increase as time goes on.

Viet Nam Conference Timetable Revealed

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Lyndon B. Johnson and his military and civilian advisers have a 116-day timetable to bring North Viet Nam to the conference chamber.

This is the one single important piece of information unveiled during those two days of elaborately fanfared White House briefings for members of Congress on the Viet Nam conflict.

THAT'S ALL THAT can be reported about this intriguing item. Nothing more was said about it.

It was passingly mentioned in the course of a 15-minute otherwise general statement by Secretary of State Dean Rusk about Southeast Asia. Beyond a fleeting reference to a 116-day timetable to bring about Viet Nam peace negotiations, he said nothing more regarding it.

Curiously, later no questions were asked. None of the legislators pursued the matter further. It was left dangling in the air — unexplained and unamplified.

LESSER DISCLOSURES, elicited chiefly by questions, were:

1. Nationalist Chinese troops will not be used to fight the Viet Cong. President Johnson brusquely cut off questions on that, saying, "That can't be done. There are good reasons against it."

2. UN Secretary General U Thant is reluctant to place the Viet Nam problem before the Security Council because, "This would embarrass the six non-permanent members." Ambassador Arthur Goldberg revealed this.

3. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara strongly intimated the Army had given "erroneous information" to the Senate Prepardness Subcommittee about serious weapons and equipment shortages. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman, announced the committee staff had submitted a report charging numerous shortages. McNamara flatly denied that.

NOTHING ELSE of any consequence was imparted to the senators and congressmen who attended the four two-hour briefings.

Sardonically remarked an influential Democratic senator, "We didn't learn a thing we didn't already know. With a few minor exceptions everything we were told had either been published or broadcast. Most of what Gen. Maxwell Taylor and Ambassador Averell Harriman said was a repetition of their television interviews the day before. The whole affair is what I would call a propaganda stunt."

AT EACH of the four briefings, President Johnson sternly enjoined silence and secrecy on the legislators.

Although no classified information of any kind was divulged, the president went out of his way to stress that the sessions were confidential and off the record. Nothing remotely resembling a military or any other secret was touched on. But the president acted as if the lawmakers were being let in on the hottest inside information.

Graphically illustrative of his touchy attitude was his sharp response to a guestion by Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, about relations with the new South Viet Nam government. He cited Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's haughty remark that he didn't consider it necessary to greet Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge when he arrives in Saigon.

Petaluma River Is A Natural For A Marin Industrial Port

IN THE NEW Novato or North Marin master plan, a large portion of the area between Highway 101 north of Novato and the Petaluma River along the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks has been zoned for industry.

The United States Army Engineers have announced plans for the widening and deepening of the channel of the Petaluma River. Lt. Col. Robert H. Allan, San Francisco district engineer, recently stated that the project should be among the top 10 recommended by his office for the congressional omnibus bill in 1966, with completion scheduled in fiscal 1968-69.

The engineers' plans call for the channel to be dredged to a depth of 15 feet instead of the existing eight feet and to a width of 200 feet instead of the existing 100 feet. This depth would allow larger barges to use the river for freight hauling.

With its present channel, it is still considered California's number two river for freight travel, exceeded only by the San Joaquin to Stockton. In 1961 for example, 282,681 tons of freight went up the Petaluma River and oil companies handle about three million gallons of petroleum products each month via the river.

THE PROPOSED new deeper wider channel will go past several miles of the eastern city limits of Novato and several miles more of Marin County area.

Yet none of this is being utilized for the river traffic. Here is an excellent opportunity for attracting industry. Here is a good possible river port with access to a major highway and railroad. These are facilities which many types of industries need.

Here is a chance for the various chambers of commerce, a county wide chamber of commerce or an industrial foundation to go to work to attract that type of industry to north Marin County where such facilities, as well as ample of industrially zoned land, are available.

The North Marin County Water District was formed years ago because people in the Novato area could not get water service from Marin Municipal Water District, according to many old timers in the city.

Now, through the foresightedness of its manager and board, the district has taken the lead in getting an abundant water supply for Marin County for the future.

We refer to the 30-inch aqueduct which the district installed to connect with the Russian River source, the work done so far in promoting a high dam on Walker Creek to supply West Marin and possibly other parts of the county, and the work done by Jerry Gilbert in promoting Eel River water for the Bay Area counties.

If Marin County has an ample supply of pure fresh water to meet the growing needs of the growing population as well as any needs for future industry, much of the thanks should go to the North Marin district.

THE FEDERAL government and state departments of employment and education, are trying to get 500 Bay Area residents to take a two weeks course in tomato picking, which cost the taxpayers $125,000 or about $250 per picker.

Listed as subjects in the two week course are such things as: "program orientation," "cultural practice," "selection of tomatoes," and "safety."

Now, we do not know what programs tomatoes are accustomed to, but we thought that they just grew. They must, however, have something to warrant a "culture practice," for the pickers. As for the selection of tomatoes, even as a small boy, we knew that the red ones were ripe and should be eaten. The only safety we knew in a tomato patch was to duck when someone threw a ripe one at us.

Greenhouse Tour Slated By Group

The tour will begin at 12:30 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Introini will host a dinner meeting when it is concluded.

Entry forms are being mailed for the second Tri-County Orchid Show, which will be run by the Napa County Orchid Society Oct. 1-3 at Napa. The Marin and Santa Rosa Orchid Societies will also participate.

J. Edgar Hoover Sets Record Straight On Wieland Affair

"FAR RIGHT Republicans"—i.e., anybody starboard of Rockefeller, Lindsay & Co.—are mocked as paranoiacs for believing that the news is often distorted by left-wing journalists.

Well, let's take the William Wieland affair I've been discussing of late and to which I now offer what may be an interesting addendum.

Let me, for clarity, place the matter in sequence. The headline read "Wieland Fully Cleared for Judgment of Castro" over an AP dispatch which began: "William A. Wieland, the American diplomat blamed by some critics for initial U.S. good will toward Castro, has been fully cleared and his security case closed, a Senate publication revealed Sunday night."

AFTER THAT CAME: "The fact that Wieland, head of State's Office of Caribbean Affairs when Castro grabbed power, had been cleared again was revealed by William J. Crockett, deputy undersecretary of state for administration, in secret testimony before the sub-committee (of the Committee on the Judiciary) last May 4. The decision to close the case was made in concurrence with the Justice Department, the FBI, a special personnel advisory board and the then attorney general, Robert Kennedy, Crockett testified.

Having just finished reading the said publication, I could not for the life of me think of anything which explained the clearance except that State always protects its own. So, with the record before me, I lit into the AP on the ground that such a carefully culled presentation which overlooked so much would give the reader a completely false impression of the hearings. I cited some instances of Wieland's attempts to gloss over Fidel's red links—which so infuriated an intelligence officer that he shouted at Wieland, "You're either a damn fool or a Communist."

And in a follow-up piece, I added, "No matter what the AP story says, I do not believe the FBI 'concurred' in the clearance. J. Edgar Hoover has refused consistently to let his department act as both investigator and judge, lest it be turned into a Geastapo. I doubt he has changed at this late date."

I THEN WROTE HOOVER, asking if he would comment on that particular point. His answer follows:

"Your letter of July 28 enclosing a copy of your column has been received.

"As you are well aware, this bureau neither clears nor concurs in the clearance of any employee of the federal government. Results of our investigations are furnished to certain government agencies without evaluation or equivocation, and the question of whether or not the individuals are employed or continuing employment is a matter decided solely by the agency concerned.

AS YOU NOTED in your column, it has been our long-standing policy and function to operate strictly as an investigative arm of the Department of Justice, reporting the facts impartially and objectively as they are found. It has never been my policy nor has it ever been of any representative of this bureau to sit in judgment on those persons investigated by the FBI.

"Regarding the case of Mr. Wieland, I have already taken steps to set the record straight with the Department of State and have pointed out that I am very concerned with that agency's action in including this bureau as part of a decisive action taken to close the case concerning their employee. It is unfortunate that such reference was made to us in a prepared press release which had been added as an afterthought prior to its release on July 17, 1965. For your information, I am enclosing a copy of an article which appeared in the Evening Star, Washington, D.C., on July 21, 1965, concerning this matter.

"I have no objection to your publishing this letter. Sincerely yours, J. Edgar Hoover."

THE GIST OF the Star story discloses the interesting fact that the phrase, "including the FBI," was not in the original press release but was added by secretary of state for public affairs—that is gobbledegook for "press agent" — James L. Greenfield as an embellishment.

"Mr. Greenfield," says the Star, "was unfortunately out of the country and could not be reached for comment." I'll bet!

What it boils down to is that the AP took a government handout from a press agent and ran it without checking. That's not exactly in the great tradition of Melville Stone.

If the AP subsequently acknowledged its error, that correction did not appear in my paper—certainly not in the display of type and space given to the original, if at all.

SOMETIMES I THINK the "far right" has a point.

Sausalito Police Move On Agenda

The Sausalito City Council at its meeting at 8 p.m. today at the city hall will consider a proposal to move the police department to a leased building at Johnson and Caledonia Streets to relieve the over-crowded city hall.

Councilmen will vote on an ordinance which would ban intentional blocking of public ways and will review a planning commission decision that Sausalito Properties may dredge some silt from waters near Sausalito Marina but may not dump the mud in a pond on Sausalito Properties land.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Aug. 17, the 229th day of 1965 with 136 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning stars are Jupiter and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

Frontiersman Davy Crockett was born on this day in 1786.

On this day in history:

In 1790, the federal capital was moved from New York to Philadelphia.

In 1807, Robert Fulton's steamboat, the Clermont, made its first trip up the Hudson River.

In 1914, a hurricane hit Galveston, Tex., killing 275 people.

In 1933, Lou Gehrig of the New York Yankees set a record when he played his 1,308th consecutive game.

A thought for the day—English playwright Ben Jonson once wrote: "True happiness consists not in the multitude of friends but in the worth and choice."

Declarer counted his tricks as he won the first heart in dummy; two hearts, a diamond and three clubs. Since there was no time to develop an additional diamond, South needed three spade tricks for his contract.

LOW SPADE

Declarer led a low spade from dummy and snorted with disdain when East put up the ace.

South wanted East to realize that he was a hopeless player and that he had made a hopeless play.

South and West followed suit with low spades, and East returned a heart to dummy. Declarer led a spade to the king, dropping East's jack.

SPADE GOOD

Now South's 10 of spades was good, but he couldn't get to dummy for the queen. If South overtook the 10 with dummy's queen, dummy's 8 of spades would not be good.

In short, South got only two spade tricks and went down one.

Instead of snorting, South should wonder why East rushed in with the ace of spades. If East had the singleton ace, nothing would help South; but this was unlikely. It was more likely that East had the doubleton ace-jack.

DROP SPADE

If South worked this out he would drop the 10 of spades under East's ace.

East would return a heart to dummy, and declarer would lead a low spade to his king, capturing the jack.

South would then be in position to lead his three of spades to win a finesse with dummy's 8 of spades. This would bring in the three spade tricks South needed for his contract.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You have four cards in each major suit but your hand is not strong enough to use the Stayman Convention since that suggests a chance for game. You would bid two clubs if you had an additional queen or king.

REPORT ON EUROPE

Many Persons Abroad Concerned Over Policy

Editor's Note—Alton S. Bock, California newspaperman formerly with the Independent-Journal, and his wife have just returned from a year and a half trip through Europe and Africa. Capitol News Service presents some of their impressions in a series of five articles).

By ALTON S. BOCK
(First in a series)

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—It's no news these days that Americans are poking about all over Europe—on foot, on bicycles, motorcycles, in little cars, in big cars. The fact of so many travellers is significent of many things, but I'm not sure that an increased understanding of America by Europeans is one of them.

The critical European, whether he's from France or Yugoslavia, still wants to know precisely what the United States is up to, and what it will become in the near future. There are complaints, and not necessarily from people who hold radical viewpoints, that our country is drifting unwittingly toward a fascist culture.

While recognizing the good intentions of American aid, most informed Europeans are uneasy about why America supposedly feels obliged to impose its policies.

It's not easy today to sum up the attitudes, to say nothing of the intentions, of a society that has become so complex in so few years.

In the last century Henry James was capable of assessing the thought and style of two or three entire nations. As an American who displaced himself he gained an extraordinary perspective, but now such a task would be nearly impossible.

Even more suspicious of America, and England as well, is the African or Asian whose reaction to Western colonialism has become disturbingly artilate. A Malaysian in Paris resents even the fact that he must speak English in his own country. He cannot return to Malaysia now because he is a prominent member of an opposition party, and his friends are in jail in Singapore. He resents American wealth and power and is actually puzzled when considering their consequences.

Along the straits of the Dardanelles we camped near a party led by a Turkish geologist whose politeness was only a veneer for hostility: he had worked too long with American oil company representatives. To escape them, he and a partner were taking a terrific gamble in setting out on an independent search for oil deposits.

I'm convinced that the American who hasn't been confronted, on foreign territory, by the anti-American cannot begin to understand the awful potential of forces gathering in countries once dominated by Western polititcs and money. A straightforward explanation of America would alleviate future difficulties; but it's doubtful that even Hubert Humphrey succeeded in getting very far when he tried not long ago to convince DeGaulle of the worthiness of our aims.

Despite all the suspicion and resentment, it's encouraging to have found at least one example of typically American ingenuousness cheerfully combined with eagerness to please, a case where a simple desire to save the world made no enemies. A young Irishman was jailed, unjustly he thought, by the police in Paris. He sent word at once to the British embassy, demanding that they get him out. He was flatly refused and made to understand that nothing could be done. Without a second thought he called the American embassy. It was only a matter of minutes before an aide rushed to the prison and obtained his release — without any strings attached.

Maybe the jolly, good-hearted Americans will survive after all . . .

Teen-Ager Pleads Guilty To Burglary

Dallas Wray Morgan, 19, of 45 Harte Avenue, San Rafael, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of burglarizing the automobile of Ronald M. Patten at Bermuda Palms in San Rafael last May 22.

A second count of burglary, that of the car of Jack Woolford of Sacramento, was dismissed against Morgan. Judgment is Sept. 7.

Bookkeeper Given Probation On Charge

A six-month suspended county jail sentence and three years probation were given Mrs. Ethel Denise Nittenberg, 34, in Marin Superior Court on her guilty plea to grand theft from Golden Gate Market in Sausalito.

Mrs. Nittenberg, of 14 Blue Rock Court, Corte Madera, was accused of embezzling an estimated $3,054 while working as bookkeeper for the firm at 221 Second Street. The loss was discovered in April.

San Rafael Burglary Trial Set For Nov. 1

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court yesterday scheduled jury trial of Leonard Amuel Trimuar, 30, charged with burglary, for Nov. 1.

Trimuar, now a prisoner at California Medical Facility at Vacaville, allegedly burglarized the home of Maria Ann Woelfl, 19 Glen Avenue, San Rafael, Feb. 26.

Soviet 'Space Station' Might Provide Insight Into Matter

By GENE BYLINSKY
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Soviet scientists describe their 27,000-pound Proton I satellite as a type of cosmic atom smasher that may provide new insight into the nature of matter.

The large unmanned "space station" is equipped to record and analyze cosmic rays in an effort to probe the "deepest mysteries of the microworld" of the atom, the Russians say in a recently published first detailed account of the project.

They list the thrust of the big rocket which placed Proton I last month into an Earth orbit ranging from 376 miles to 114 miles high at 60 million horsepower. Though difficult to translate into American rocket terms, this figures out to about 2.5 million pounds of thrust.

This would make it more powerful than the Saturn 1-B, the 1.8 million-pound-thrust projectile the United States plans to start flying next year. But it is much smaller than the mammoth Saturn V, the U. S. moon rocket now under construction, designed to generate a total of 8.7 million pounds of thrust.

Saturn is designed to propel the 45-ton Apollo ship to the moon in 1969.

U. S. specialists consider the new Red rocket too small for Moon flight. But if it is upgraded to about 3.5 million pounds thrust, the Russians could attempt to put up segments of a moonship into Earth orbit, assemble it, and send it to the moon.

Although the Russians describe Proton I as a unique modern scientific space laboratory, U. S. specialists are more inclined to view it as a test vehicle for future manned space flights.

"They get as much as possible out of flying any space vehicle," says one analyst of the Soviet space program. "Proton I has many purposes other than announced."

Similarly, U. S. physicists view Proton I valuable for a "peek" into the nature of cosmic rays—and matter itself—but not for definitive studies of the nature of matter.

Such studies, they say, can be accomplished better with "atom smashers," or nuclear accelerators on earth, which can create particles of desired intensities at will.

Energies of some cosmic particles zooming through space are far greater than those that can be generated on Earth, however. A space satellite such as Proton I for this reason offers certain advantages in studying such high energy particles—but capturing them is difficult even in space because such particles are few and far between.

The Russians note that accelerator technology places a natural limit on the energies that can be achieved — approximately 1,000 billion electron volts (BEV). The largest proposed accelerator is a U. S. machine which would generate 200 BEV and cost about $350 million to build.

By contrast, particles with energies of up to one billion BEV can be recorded in space. Their energies are dissipated as they hit the Earth's atmosphere and can not be measured by earth-based instruments.

The aim of recording the impacts of cosmic particles, according to the Russians, is to clarify how "cosmic accelerators" — perhaps exploding stars —manage to impart the tremendous velocities to the tiny bits of matter.

"This sort of research should aid in understanding the phenomenally large processes which govern the development of the galaxy and perhaps of the whole universe," write the Soviet scientists.

The type of investigations Proton I is performing to some extent duplicates what U. S. scientists have been doing with much smaller satellites. The station's record weight, however, has enabled the Russians to put aboard heavy instruments of the type this country hasn't launched.

They include an ionization calorimeter, a gamma ray telescope, an instrument to measure the chemical composition and energy spectrum of cosmic rays.

The calorimeter consists of nine thick steel plates. When cosmic particles hit it, they interact with atomic nuclei of iron. Secondary particles are created. These in turn collide with nuclei of iron and create still more particles.

The absorbtion of this energy is accompanied by bursts of light which is registered by photoelectric "eyes" and the information is transmitted to earth.

Although Proton I is not stabilized, sensing devices aboard allow determination of the pointing angle of the station at any time, the Russians say.

They claim that Proton I heralds a new era in space exploration. "It opens to science new perspectives of investigating space near Earth, near the Sun, and in the depths of the universe," they said.

American physcists take a more reserved view of Proton I-type space studies. But one concedes that "it would be a little overwhelming" had U. S. scientists been offered the chance to send into space as many instruments as the Russians did.

He feels, though, that much preliminary testing of spaceborne instruments would be needed with balloons.

HERE'S WHAT YOU GET:

1. A handsomely illustrated, colorful booklet of approximately 80 pages, written by John Troan, nationally known newspaper journalist and an authority on Social Security and Medicare.
2. A family financial security planner. Are you sure that in the event of the death or disability of the breadwinner in your family all obligations could be met on at least a minimum basis? This planner, of special interest to couples between the ages of 25 and 45, will show you how to make a sound financial security plan to protect your loved ones. (You can easily see what Social Security covers and what must be provided in addition to Federal benefits.) There is a place to record insurance, bank, pension, securities—a complete record for your entire family.
3. Social Security self-audit card. It is YOUR responsibility to make sure that your money is being properly credited to your Social Security Account. To check your own records you simply fill out and sign this card and a report of your credits will be mailed to you.

Federal Trainees Eligible For Pay

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Claimants for unemployment insurance benefits may draw when they leave a job to continue a federal manpower training program.

The California Unemployment Insurance Appeals Board made this ruling today in the case of Emma Wells, 25909 Peterman Ave., Hayward, who was disqualified for having left a job without good cause by the department of employment.

The appeals board, however, over-ruled the department, lifted the disqualification, and pointed out the claimant's long hours made it impossible for her to continue work and perform her home work.

Japanese often call Hokkaido their last frontier, but few of them want to pioneer on the big northern island.

Judo Classes Offered Marinwood Children

The Marinwood Parks and Recreation District is now taking applications for judo classes for youngsters from the ages of seven to 17.

Classes will be held at the center from 7 to 8 p.m. Wednesdays, with the class limited to 15 students, reported Lawrence Crawford, recreation director.

Weather Balloon Lands In Yard

A weather balloon with a large orange parachute drifted into the back yard of Mrs. Diane Conlin at 11 Garden Street, Novato, yesterday.

Mrs. Conlin said she would follow the instructions on the instrument package and send it to the Weather Bureau office in Oakland where it was launched Sunday.

TV REVIEW

Networks Planning More Color

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The embarrassing comic-strip level of the coming television season's entertainment series is obvious even to the networks, and they will employ two devices to protect their respectability: Plenty of specials and loads of color programs.

The networks previously announced that great amounts of their regular programming will be in color, and the trend continues. Starting Nov. 15, for instance, the nightly Chet Huntley-David Brinkley newscasts on NBC-TV will switch to color, except for fast-breaking stories. And beginning Sept. 13, major portions of NBC-TV's "Today" show will also be broadcast in color. At NBC-TV, the Lawrence Welk and "Ozzie and Harriet" programs have been added to the color schedule. And the Saturday morning cartoon shows for children will be virtually entirely in color on all three networks.

In more immediate and significant terms, television's tremendous color breakthrough is expected to be dramatized Thursday morning during the network pool coverage of the launch period of the scheduled two-man, eight-day, Gemini-Titan 5 space mission. NBC-TV has previously shown a launching in color, but it is the first time for ABC-TV and CBS-TV.

Mill Valley Sign Rules On Agenda

The Mill Valley Planning Commission will meet at 8 p.m. today at the city hall after the regularly scheduled meeting last week was postponed for lack of a quorum.

Commissioners will consider changes in the sign ordinance which would ease regulations for businesses having a carved wooden sign and would allow non-conforming signs to remain until a business changed owner instead of requiring removal this year, the end of a five year notice period.

Melvin Silva will go before the commission asking rezoning of his land at catalpa Street and East Blithedale Avenue from single family to duplex or multiple zoning.
